There is a bevy of beautiful dolls at 1146 Hillside—all dressed up with a particular place to go and a distinct purpose in life.

They have all been made ready for their debut which takes place at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 18.

when they will be sold to the highest bidders at Maynard and Sons Ltd. auctioneers at 733 Johnson Street.

The dolls will be feature attractions of the annual toy auction by Maynard's in aid of the Colonist 500 Fund.

The staff of Maynard's donate their time and services. The only thing they need in order to ensure success is donations of toys from you.

These may be brought to Maynard's at any time.

If you have a group of toys to donate, give Art Kool of Reliable Transfer a call and he will pick them up free of charge.

Mr. Kool expects to have a busy time in aid of the fund following the Kinsmen giant Christmas bazaar in Memorial Arena Tuesday, Dec. 8. All those who bring a toy to the bazaar receive an extra ticket for turkey draws.

Mr. Kool will then take the hundreds of toys brought by the players to Maynard's for the auction.

To return to the dolls we spoke of, they owe their charm to the artistry of old-age pensioner Mrs. Mary Smith.

For the past eight years, Mrs. Smith has made a year-long project out of gathering broken and discarded dolls and bringing them to new life and beauty. She repairs them herself and makes the clothing out of old dresses and bits of cloth.

HALIFAX (CP)—A fierce storm that lashed the Maritimes Tuesday threatened tragedy as a wild Atlantic battered a grounded freighter and concealed a powerless lobster boat.

The South African government has refused to let Louis Armstrong enter South Africa for a tour next year, even though he had promised to play only to segregated audiences.

U.S. Leads In Race To Mars

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Mars-bound Mariner IV raced through space Tuesday well ahead of a crippled Soviet rocket and U.S. scientists pondered just when to trigger an extra burst of speed later in the 7½-month flight.

Mariner IV, launched Saturday with cameras designed to take the best pictures yet of the planet's mysterious surface, was 685,875 miles from earth at midnight Pacific time, streaking at 7,193 miles an hour.

The Soviet shot, Zond II, started its flight Monday from an orbiting spacecraft.

All systems aboard Mariner IV were operating normally but the Russians reported their power supply was about 50 per cent impaired.

'Do it Yourself' Kit

Liquor 'Still' Was Mobile

NANAIMO (Special)—Dusan Pozar, 345 Pridoux Street, who operated a "do it yourself" moonshine kit only half a block from the Nanaimo RCMP office, was fined $250 in magistrate's court Tuesday for illegal possession of a still.

Police told Magistrate Eric Winch they seized a still, a 50-gallon barrel of mash and several bottles of grappa.

They said the still could be moved from place to place on a different moonshiner could make their own booze from their own supply of mash.

Police said the illicit manufacture of moonshine is "big business" in Nanaimo. Pozar's kind of distilled alcohol could cause blindness if improperly made.

Geza Bagocsi, 428 Irwin, was fined $100 after pleading guilty last week to a similar charge.

Beatle shows off his Tonsils

Ringo's Loss Nobody's Gain

LONDON (Reuters)—Beatles drummer Ringo Starr has dashed fans' hopes of getting his tonsils as a souvenir when he has them removed.

The 24-year-old entertainer told reporters "No one is getting them, believe me." The operation, scheduled for today, is not expected to affect his singing or the group's "Liverpool sound."

Meanwhile, the Beatles Tuesday shot back to the top of the British hit parade just three days after their new record, I Feel Fine, was released.

Legacy of a Massacre

Typhoid Hits Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Typhoid has broken out in the sweltering former rebel capital of Stanleyville where hundreds of bodies still lie in streets, offices, homes and abandoned cars, travellers reported Tuesday.

The new disaster at Stanleyville came as military sources here disclosed a mercenary column aided by Congolese troops had liberated the town of Dégoula 300 miles north of Stanleyville and rescued more than 150 white hostages. The hostages were flown to Leopoldville.

No one has counted the dead in Stanleyville and it is probable the exact toll never will be known.

Rebel prisoners were being used to dispose of bodies because mercenaries and government troops will not touch them, travellers said.

Hospitals are empty in Stanleyville because nurses have vanished.

Some United Nations World Health Organization Negro doctors from Haiti refused to remain there because they feared mercenaries would mistake them for rebels.

Informed sources said between 50 and 150 more whites remained in rebel territory and that the rescue operation would require several weeks.

Meanwhile, a rebel statement said "Simbas" (lions) have recovered Stanleyville radio and claimed credit for the crash of a Belgian airplane Sunday. They said the plane was shot down by the Simbas' gunfire.

These reports are confirmed by Leopoldville. The government concedes its forces hold only the airport at Stanleyville. In Khartoum the new Sudanese regime of Prime Minister Sir el Khatim el Khalifa is weighing a rebel demand for arms, ammunition, volunteers and supplies for the rebel cause.

At the United Nations the African group of 33 countries asked Secretary-General Thant to make representations to Belgium and the United States that all foreign troops and mercenaries be pulled out of The Congo.

Viet Cong Erase Government Post

SAIGON (AP)—The Viet Cong wiped out a government district headquarters post early today, seizing enough weapons to arm a reinforced guerrilla company.

About 200 Viet Cong troops slashed their way into the town of Thien Gioa, 100 miles northeast of Saigon, and killed the district chief and 13 of his men. They escaped with 113 weapons, including 33 machine guns.

The force at Thien Gioa radical the military headquarters at the coastal town of Phan Thiet for reinforcements, and flare-dropping planes and fighters arrived within an hour after the attack began.

However, by the time the ground troops arrived a little before dawn, the Viet Cong had left with their booty. They also carried off two radios and destroyed the district headquarters building and a munitions dump.

Viet Nam Report Spurs LBJ

NEW LOOK URGENT

WASHINGTON (UPI)

President Johnson has ordered urgent consultations with the Saigon government toward improving "in all its aspects" the increasingly grim situation in beleaguered South Viet Nam.

Meanwhile Cambodian frontier forces have joined the Communist Viet Cong again in attacks on South Vietnamese troops, the South Vietnamese defence ministry charged Tuesday.

At the same time China, aware that President Johnson was discussing war policy with U.S. Ambassador Maxwell Taylor and key advisers in Washington, warned it would fight in the event of "U.S. imperialist aggression" against North Viet Nam.

President Johnson's directive to General Taylor came during a major 2½-hour review of U.S. strategy and policy in Viet Nam. The president's highest military, diplomatic and intelligence advisers took part.

Nowhere in a White House report of the meeting was there any indication of administration plans to expand the war against the Viet Cong guerrillas.

The White House statement said the president had reaffirmed the basic U.S. policy of "providing all possible and useful assistance to the South Vietnamese people and government in their struggle to defeat the externally-supported insurgency and aggression being conducted against them."

This policy also still includes a determination to try to defeat aggression in Southeast Asia without a big war. Thus any major widening of the Vietnamese conflict, such as invading North Viet Nam or bombing its capital of Hanoi, appeared to be ruled out because of the possibility of massive retaliation.

Liu Ning-yi, Chinese representative in the just-closed international conference on Viet Nam, said:

"The Chinese people would never sit idly by when aggression was being committed against their brotherly neighbor. They would resolutely unite with and fight alongside the fraternal Vietnamese people."

Bells of Beirut Peal During Hour with Pope

BEIRUT (AP)—Pope Paul stopped off in Beirut, capital of Lebanon, for 60 emotion-packed minutes today and then took off for India, continuing the longest journey ever undertaken by a pope of Rome.

The Roman Catholic pontiff's plane—an Air India jet—was scheduled to take off hours for its flight to Bombay, where the pope will attend the eucharistic congress. The round-trip air journey from Rome to Bombay covers more than 7,000 miles.

Peace—At Least a Month

Two UN Giants Agree To Put Off Fund Fight

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The Soviet Union and the United States pulled back from the brink of a showdown Tuesday, agreeing to put off for at least a month the East-West confrontation over UN peace-keeping finances.

The agreement came just minutes before the opening of the General Assembly's 19th session, averting a U.S. move to try to take away Soviet voting rights because of non-payment of peace-keeping assessments which Russia says were illegally approved.

The compromise was worked out in consultations with Secretary-General U Thant and a handful of other delegates.

It provided that no formal votes will be taken during the assembly's general debate, expected to last at least until Christmas. With no formal voting, the question of whether or not Russia can vote will not arise.

Thant announced the agreement in a terse statement at the opening of the assembly. The assembly then proceeded to elect by acclamation a new chairman, Alex Quaison-Sackey of Ghana.

LITTLE CHANCE

However, authoritative sources said that the U.S. would have had little chance of enlisting the necessary two-thirds majority in the assembly to strip the Russians of their vote. Negotiations were to resume today between Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk.

Thant's announcement of the big two compromise climaxed a dispute that has been building up slowly for years. The crowd filling the big blue and gold assembly chamber gave an audible murmur of relief as the final decision was taken with no vote required.

FUTURE TALKS

There was a feeling among some diplomats that the compromise provided a good augury for future talks on a basic settlement.

"We have certainly bought time today," Canada's External Affairs Minister Paul Martin said. He hoped progress could be made while "all the parties concerned" were in New York for the assembly.

Martin met with Thant late in the day and afterwards paid tribute to the secretary-general for his part in achieving the agreement.

Dionne Quint Charged With Assault

MONTREAL (CP)—Mrs. Florian Dionne, Marie of the famous Dionne quintuplets, was charged Monday in Montreal municipal court with common assault and was remanded to Dec. 7.

The charge says the assault was committed "on the person of another female," understood to be a baby-sitter.

Mrs. Dionne has two children. She is one of the four surviving quintuplets.

Flag Vote Hopes Fade in Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—Hopes for speedy Commons approval of an emblem with a single red maple leaf as Canada's national flag dimmed Tuesday when Speaker Alan Macnaughton ruled to permit debate on a Conservative amendment calling for a flag plebiscite.

Mr. Macnaughton rejected government arguments and decided it is "fair and equitable" that the amendment for a plebiscite at the next general election be debated.

PLEBISCITE ONLY

Prime Minister Pearson accepted the ruling but asked that debate be confined only to the question of a plebiscite.

Mr. Macnaughton said in view of the long debate so far this session on the question of a national flag speeches should be to the point.

He was called upon quickly

for a ruling as J. A. McElin (PC-Elgin) led off the resumed debate and quoted at length from letters and editorials favoring retention of the Red Ensign as the national flag.

Gilles Giguere (Creditiste-Lapointe) called for a ruling to restrict Mr. McElin's remarks to the plebiscite.

HARD TO DECIDE

Mr. Macnaughton cautioned Mr. McElin, but said questions of relevancy were not easy to decide and a wrong decision might deprive a member of his right to speak.

The Speaker's ruling means each member may speak at least once on the amendment and again on the single-leaf design recommended by the Commons' all-party flag committee. There was no indication whether further amendments

Wide New Artery Gains Approval

By A. M. MURPHY

A six-lane, 100-foot-wide artery to funnel traffic from Tolmie Avenue border into the heart of Victoria, will be recommended to city council, probably at its next meeting.

The plan, approved Tuesday by several of city council's key committees including the traffic advisory committee, will involve rerouting a six block section of the road on Rose.

A six-lane concept was chosen rather than two one-way roads which would have left an awkward "island" of residential area between Queens and Hillside.

The six-lane project will cost close to $1,000,000, $37,000 more than the divided road scheme, but it will have the effect of sharply dividing commercial development in the Douglas Street area from residential development to the east.

"I think it's great," said

Traffic Inspector Brooke Douglas when asked his opinion by Mayor R. B. Wilson.

FUNDS AVAILABLE

City manager Dennis Young told questioners that there is about $1,000,000 available in the capital budget and in allowances for urban renewal area through which the road will pass for part of its route.

An overpass is envisaged at the intersection of Finlayson Avenue and an underpass at the city border on Tolmie.

The traffic bottleneck which has developed at Rose and Hillside will be eliminated. Widening of the road has already begun in that area. This would have been necessary whether the divided road or the six-lane single highway was chosen.

DIVIDING STRIP

In addition to an almost straight route between Rose and Hillside and Blanshard at Chatham, the new road plan would eliminate the one-way section, which now runs between Bay and Queens, allowing this and the portion between Bay and Hillside to handle secondary traffic.

There will be a 17-foot dividing strip down the centre of the road for the full length between Tolmie and Pandora.

Mr. Young said, in answer to questions, that planning could proceed now and work get underway next fall.

All six lanes need not be developed right now but right-of-way would be secured.

Grocer Seeks Names On Stolen Cheques

An Oak Bay grocer robbed of more than $4,000 at the weekend is still looking for the names of some of the customers who cashed cheques in his store between Nov. 25 and 28.

Edwin Lewis of Lewis' Low Cost Food Market, 1807 Foul Bay Road, said Tuesday most of the cheques had been traced, but about $800 worth were still in doubt.

He hopes to have stop payment orders issued on the cheques if he can determine to whom they belonged.

Bands Plan Concert

A two-hour concert by school bands and orchestras will be given in the Lansdowne Junior High School auditorium at 8 p.m. Friday.

Music will be provided by the Lansdowne band, Mount

Douglas band, a combined elementary band from Doncaster, Oaklands and Uplands, and the Greater Victoria schools junior and senior orchestras.

Admission will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

Bapco Boosts Fund

J. V. Harbord, chairman of the advance gifts division, Tuesday announced receipt of $25,000 from Bapco Paint Co. to the tri-universities capital fund.

He reported that gifts to date to this division of the capital fund amount to approximately twice as much as was received during the last university fund drive.

Total receipts from the advance gifts division now exceed $125,000, Mr. Harbord said.

Vancouver Island objective for the three public universities — University of Victoria, UBC and Simon Fraser — is $3,000,000.

OTTAWA (CP) — The area burned by forest fires in Canada this year was almost four times greater than in 1963, the federal forestry department reported Tuesday. Between April and October a total of 4,538 fires burned through an estimated 1,829,000 acres. In the same period last year 1,670 fires damaged 470,000 acres.

Candidate Says:

Poor Service Keeps People Off Buses

Saanich council candidate Donald Mathison has lashed out at B.C. Hydro's "poor" bus service which he says is "slowly deteriorating over the years."

Mr. Mathison, in a press release, said the poor service is keeping people off the buses.

He was critical of the system where someone wanting to go from Oak Bay to Saanich must first take the bus to Victoria.

FARES REDUCED

The Winnipeg transit system, he said, recently reduced fares and improved service to encourage more bus travel and alleviate some of the traffic congestion caused by too many cars being on the road.

"If the provincial government wants to keep the unattractive bus system on to the municipalities, the only way that we will accept is if they are willing to give us the more lucrative electrical transmission portion of B.C. Hydro as well. We want no one's orphans!"

Province Sets Up New Park

The provincial government has established a new Class A park on 315 acres near Harrison Lake.

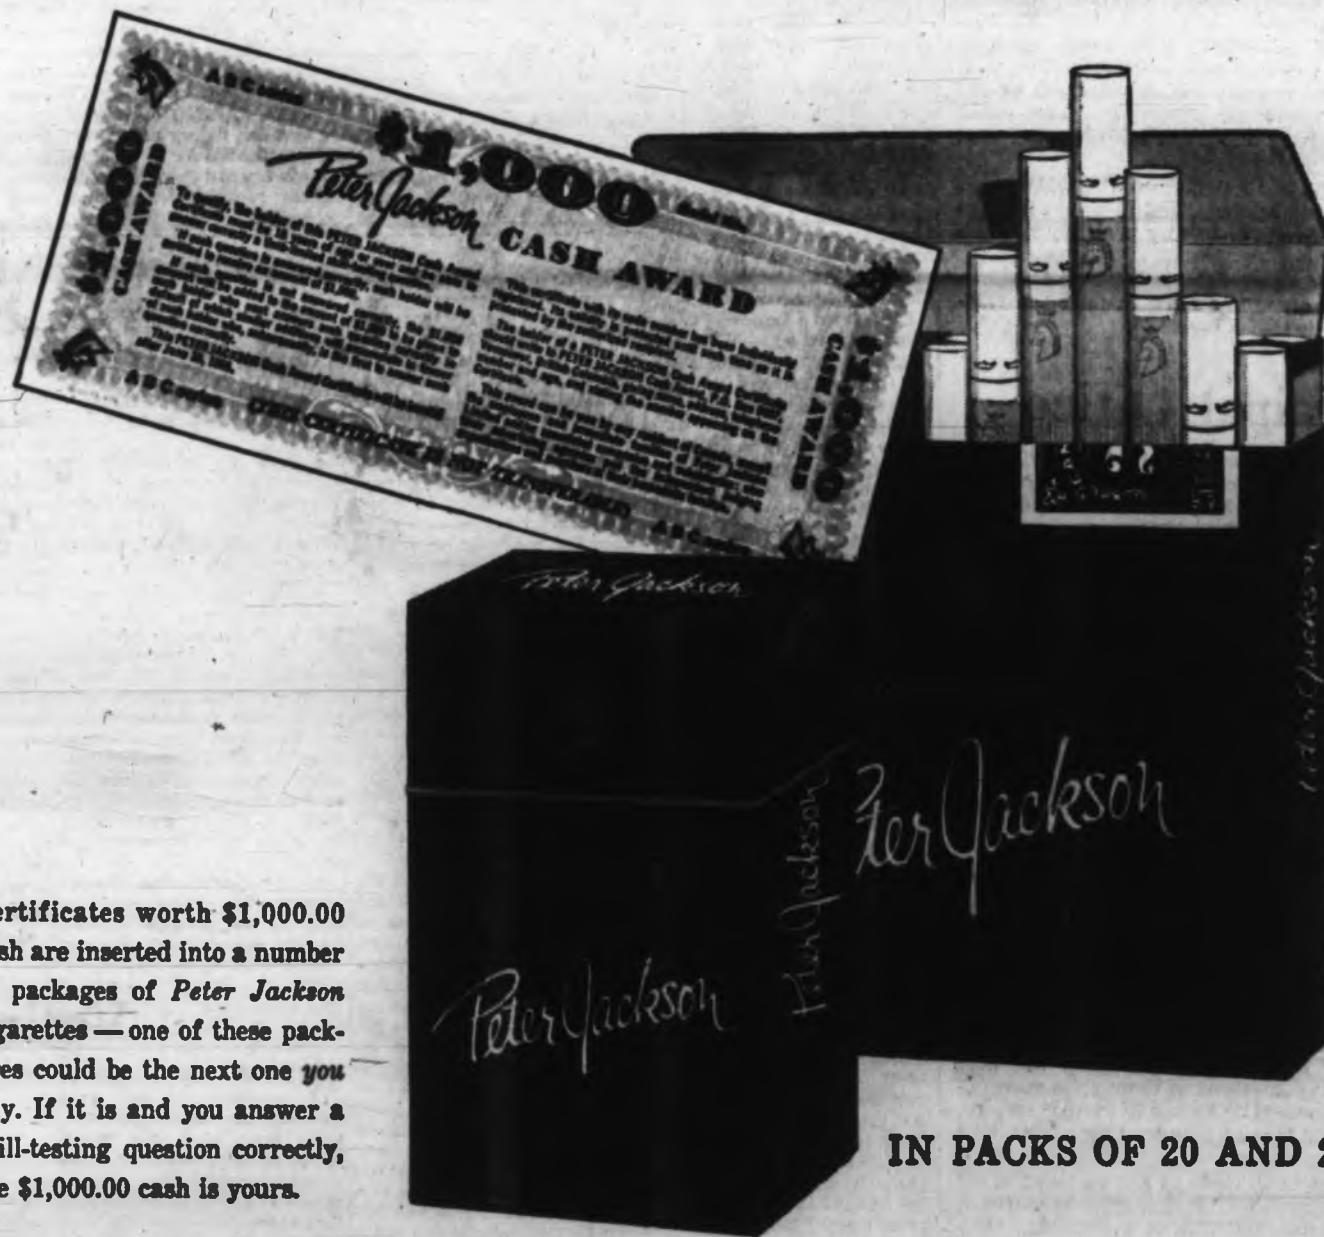

Parks director Harold McWilliams said the action was taken at this time because federal fisheries officials are planning to establish new salmon spawning beds on Weaver Creek.

The provincial government has no immediate plans for development of the new park, to be known as Weaver Creek Park.

The property consists of 135 acres donated by Royal City Sawmills and a 180-acre park reserve around Weaver Lake.

Pay Might Help

THE LACK of interest among British Columbians in serving on school boards, evidenced when nominations for municipal elections closed on Monday, undoubtedly results from more than a single cause. Broadly though it can readily be supposed that the deterrents add up to insufficient recognition of the work and worth of trustees.

The relative absence of major and controversial public issues in the administration of the schools—in contrast with the generally more argumentative conduct of civic affairs by the municipal councils, for instance—dooms the board members as a rule to comparative obscurity on the community scene. It is probably a safe bet that not one citizen in a thousand could name the majority of the local trustees, let alone all of them.

This though is not to belittle the importance of their endeavors to get the most and best they can for the taxpayers' money, nor the amount of time and effort they are called upon to put into the job.

When in 56 of 127 cities, towns, districts and villages in B.C., the trustees have been elected this year by acclamation, without contest, and when in 11, including Victoria and Sidney, seats have to be filled by ministerial appointment for want of candidates, the situation is clearly in need of remedy.

We can't suggest a cure. But it surely would remove an impediment that stands in the way of some persons serving as trustees, and offer additional acknowledgment of the value of board members' efforts on behalf of the community, if as suggested earlier this year they were paid, on the same compensating but hardly munificent scales as permitted by provincial legislation for municipal councillors.

The Centennial Train

ANY FEARS lest the "Centennial Special" might not be seen in Victoria during its cross-country run in 1967 will be dispelled by Mayor Wilson's advice that this area will be its western terminus.

This is the train first proposed by Mr. John Diefenbaker as a multiple Confederation display which would bring home to all Canadians the story and amplitude of the country, and be an interesting and valuable highlight of the national centenary celebrations three years hence.

The train will be replete with scenic designs, maps, documents, relief models, exhibits of varying nature depicting the growth and development of the nation, relics of historical importance, and other memorabilia expressing the national life, past and present.

It should reveal to all Canadians the wide treasury of their combined heritage, and reveal in intriguing detail of many facets of history probably not sufficiently well known.

One expects the "Centennial Special" to be something that will illuminate in lasting manner the richness of our 100th national birthday.

Municipal Office

A FORMER city alderman says there should be a time limit on the years a person serves on municipal councils. He thinks long-term incumbents build up little empires around them.

The best answer to this is the confidence electors place in councillors they choose to elect term after term.

Personal patronage and party label happily being absent from the local municipal scene, councillors sit as individuals, and the "empires" alleged certainly seem conspicuous by their absence.

It is true of course that incumbents of municipal office are better known than new aspirants when seats are at stake at election time, and in this respect other candidates are at a disadvantage. But that is inevitable in all realms of public office and those seeking initial entry must depend on their other community activities to bring their names to prominence.

This has never been a factor in inhibiting candidates, however, and the numbers entering the municipal lists this year indicate that it is a normally accepted handicap. And the maxim of trying again if once a loser often brings deserved reward.

It would be detrimental to municipal progress if men who have proved themselves in office could not continue to serve simply because they have been re-elected time after time. So long as they are hale and hearty and are competent in their roles succeeding terms of office should be no bar to further service. And the electors are able to note how well they have performed.

Councillors must mind their ps and qs to ward off the bids of newcomers to the municipal scene each time their term is up, and this is a challenge they must cope with at election time.

Burying the Past

HOW LONG will a modern dam last? Almost forever, presumably, and certainly for many hundreds of years barring enormous cataclysm or deliberate removal in the reorganization of a water system. Long enough in all likelihood to bury with sedimentation much that, while originally above water, lies close to the bottom of the lake it forms.

It is to be expected hence that when the new dams rise on the Columbia, all evidence of the past along the shores of the waterway, like the scenes of today, will be gone for good.

The thought invites sympathy with the member of Parliament for Kootenay West, Mr. H. W. Herdridge, in his plea that in the dwindling time before the reservoirs are created, an effort be made to record for posterity as much as possible of what will be lost to human gaze.

Mr. Herdridge suggested in the Commons that the national museum and the B.C. museum co-operate to make certain that underground dwellings are explored, Indian rock paintings photographed, and further artifacts sought along the Columbia from the Big Bend to Castlegar before the flooding; also that the National Film Board make a color documentary to show the land as it was.

No doubt the district will be equally beautiful in a new way in years to come, with new communities and new amenities. But it would be a pity to let the past and present be covered over without a special effort to record what will never be directly seen again.

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes, and ships,

By TOM TAYLOR

ONE is adjured that one should not venture to challenge the policies governing the operation of the McPherson Playhouse lest this impinge on the legitimate authority of the theatre's director.

I fear however that I must remain unrepentant. I think the Smile Show has had a bad deal. On only one point do I come to this conclusion, but it seems to me to be self-evident.

The community was advised that the Gooley vaudeville troupe was not of suitable standard for the playhouse; that it did not conform to the "image" being created for this new theatrical enterprise.

I think it excusable to ask: Does this "image" change with the dates on the calendar?

For while the McPherson management does not think the Smile Show suitable for the prize three-week tourist period in August it was willing to book it for earlier engagement the month before.

Is it not strange that on the basis of "standards" a show should be persona grata one month but not another? I find this rather a specious line of demarcation.

I could agree that the Gooley troupe should not monopolize the whole two-month stretch of July and August, as it asked in its original bid; there are other local groups desirous of and entitled to the sharing of the summer season. But it did make the first application for use of the playhouse stage, and some order of priority along this line is surely bound to be part of the theatre's system of operation.

Certainly in future it is not now. While deploring it I could appreciate the situation if the Smile Show was not considered to be sufficiently elegant for the McPherson theatre, period. But that it can be acceptable in July and not in August baffles me completely.

Except of course that the preferred three weeks of the summer season has been allotted to another presentation.

Which to me at least doesn't seem to be fair play.

So the B.C. Lions pulled it off after all. I amend what I said last week of the "behemoths" who play Canadian football.

And find myself in envy of their physical proportions.

If it is a fact, as I suggested, that to be a football player you must reach for the top, and grow sideways as well, then the Lions, rampant as they were, deserve the trophy they nearly forgot to bring home.

It has been a long road to the uplift that is now theirs, and their supporters, faithful above and beyond the call of duty, have been rewarded.

Three cheers.

Now if the local Maple Leafs will but rise and do likewise, I'll add a digit to the cheers.

Today In History

By The Canadian Press

1804—Napoleon Bonaparte was crowned Emperor of France 160 years ago today—in 1804. He was only 35 years old when France, by a unanimous vote of the Senate and a plebiscite, decided to return to a hereditary monarchy. At his coronation in Paris he took the crown from the hands of Pope Pius VII and placed it on his own head. Napoleon's reign was of 10 years duration, until he was forced to abdicate in 1814, when he retired to the island of Elba where his sovereignty was still recognized.

1903—The central building of the University of Ottawa was destroyed by fire.

1919—Toronto millionaire Ambrose Small disappeared, and the case became a celebrated mystery when all attempts at tracing him failed.

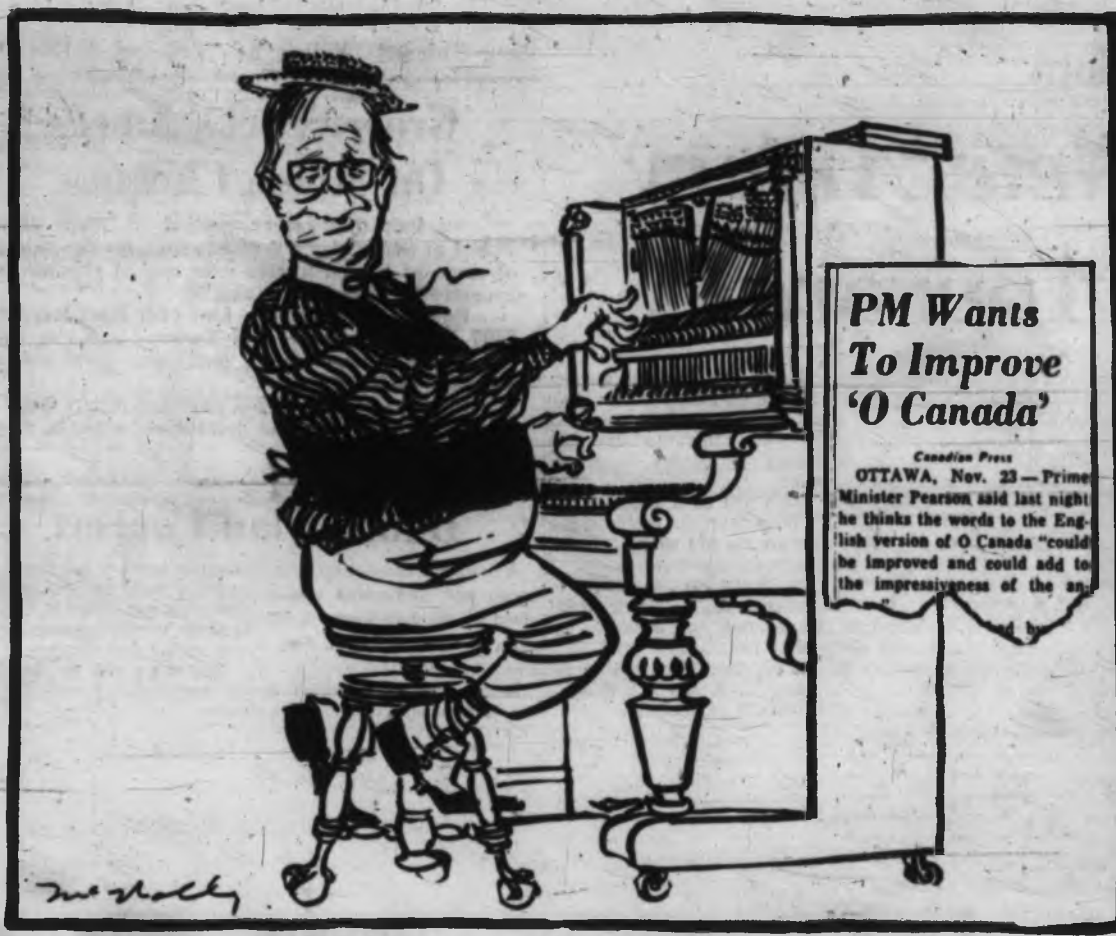

First World War: Fifty years ago today—in 1918—Austrian troops entered Belgrade after a four-month siege of the Serbian capital; French troops captured two Alsatian towns near the Rhine; Russians occupied Ploetz on the Vistula River.

Second World War: Twenty-five years ago today—in 1939—Finns claimed they had shot down 10 Russian planes and sunk a Russian warship as they retreated from five villages near the Russo-Finnish border; the German liner Watussi scuttled itself to avoid capture by the British off Cape Town.

With the Classics

I grant indeed that fields and flocks have charms
For him that grazes or for him that farms;
But when amid such pleasing scenes I trace
The poor laborious natives of the place,
And see the mid-day sun, with fervid ray,
On their bare heads and dewy temples play;
While some, with feeble heads and fainter hearts,
Deplore their fortune, yet sustain their parts:
Then shall I dare these real ills to hide
In tinsel trappings of poetic pride?

Stumbling Blocks in Path

Mr. Khrushchev's Successors

By ISAAC DEUTSCHER
(Second of Two Articles)

MR. KHRUSHCHEV'S successors in the Kremlin keep on repeating emphatically that they stand by the decisions of the 20th and 22nd congresses, the congresses that were responsible for the most spectacular acts of de-Stalinization. Indeed, they are promising to press ahead with de-Stalinization and "liberalization."

Yet even these promises are made only by hint and allusion. If until recently the party ideologists claimed that the 20th and 22nd congresses had "achieved a return to the Leninist principles of collective leadership and inner party democracy," they now say that those congresses had only "begun" but not "achieved" the necessary reform. Even of Mr. Khrushchev's overthrow, it is said that it has carried the revival of inner party democracy "a stage farther," not that it has completed the process.

Thus, by implication, further instances of de-Stalinization (and de-Khrushchevism) are being foreshadowed. This is evidently done in response to increased popular pressure for new "liberal" reforms.

However, if the logic of the domestic situation calls for further de-Stalinization and "liberalization," Moscow's evident desire for at least a partial agreement with Peking militates against this trend. The Chinese go on proclaiming their allegiance to the Stalin cult and denouncing the "revisionists" opposed to it.

This is one of the stumbling blocks in the present Russo-Chinese negotiations. Behind it there are, of course, other stumbling blocks. The Russians reaffirm the correctness of their policy of peaceful co-existence; and they point to President Johnson's overwhelming electoral victory as evidence and justification for it, while the Chinese say that there is "no difference between Johnson and Goldwater." The Russians still can restate those formulas in some new-satisfactory version. The 1960 compromise broke down when Mr. Khrushchev allied himself (against the Chinese) with President Tito of Yugoslavia and right-wing elements in other Communist parties. Mao Tse-tung and his comrades expect, therefore, Mr. Khrushchev's successors to renew the attack against Titoism and the Communist trends akin to it.

Behind these party political issues looms the crisis in the relationship between the governments of the two great Communist powers.

Is Russia going to resume economic aid to China? And is Russia going to view favorably China's ascendancy as a nuclear power and assist in it? So far not even a hint to these questions has been made in public; and the silence indicates how great the difficulties are and how much time it must take to reduce them, if reduced they can be.

Mr. Khrushchev's successors probably feel that they have given sufficient proof of their intention to mend their relations with the Chinese; they now expect some ideological concession from chairman Mao. They may be counting on moderate elements in Peking to speak up in favor of conciliation with Russia.

This hope is certainly groundless. Just as the Russians under Mr. Khrushchev had not been unanimous in their policy towards China, so the Chinese under chairman Mao differ in their attitudes towards Moscow; and the differences must have been stimulated by Mr. Khrushchev's overthrow.

In all probability Chou En-lai speaks for those who favor a compromise with Moscow, while Liu Shao-chi urges that the battle against "Khrushchevism" be pressed relentlessly to its conclusion.

Thus, while officially the truce between Moscow and Peking lasts, the struggle between the factions is assuming fresh intensity in each of the two capitals and, indeed, the entire Communist movement.

Working on Christmas mail, will receive federal pay of a dollar-an-hour. A private employer here is liable to court action if he tries to get away with less than $1.25 an hour minimum wage to anyone he employs, casual or not.

The federal government ignores this rule with "do as I say, not as I do." Does this mean that the government in Ottawa is liberal in name only?

What has the union of post-office workers to say about this? Are the 400 women and 200 men "extras," giving a hand here in the Christmas rush, to be regarded as wage-earning slaves?

being foreshadowed. This is evidently done in response to increased popular pressure for new "liberal" reforms.

However, if the logic of the domestic situation calls for further de-Stalinization and "liberalization," Moscow's evident desire for at least a partial agreement with Peking militates against this trend. The Chinese go on proclaiming their allegiance to the Stalin cult and denouncing the "revisionists" opposed to it.

This is one of the stumbling blocks in the present Russo-Chinese negotiations. Behind it there are, of course, other stumbling blocks. The Russians reaffirm the correctness of their policy of peaceful co-existence; and they point to President Johnson's overwhelming electoral victory as evidence and justification for it, while the Chinese say that there is "no difference between Johnson and Goldwater." The Russians still can restate those formulas in some new-satisfactory version. The 1960 compromise broke down when Mr. Khrushchev allied himself (against the Chinese) with President Tito of Yugoslavia and right-wing elements in other Communist parties. Mao Tse-tung and his comrades expect, therefore, Mr. Khrushchev's successors to renew the attack against Titoism and the Communist trends akin to it.

Behind these party political issues looms the crisis in the relationship between the governments of the two great Communist powers.

Is Russia going to resume economic aid to China? And is Russia going to view favorably China's ascendancy as a nuclear power and assist in it? So far not even a hint to these questions has been made in public; and the silence indicates how great the difficulties are and how much time it must take to reduce them, if reduced they can be.

Mr. Khrushchev's successors probably feel that they have given sufficient proof of their intention to mend their relations with the Chinese; they now expect some ideological concession from chairman Mao. They may be counting on moderate elements in Peking to speak up in favor of conciliation with Russia.

This hope is certainly groundless. Just as the Russians under Mr. Khrushchev had not been unanimous in their policy towards China, so the Chinese under chairman Mao differ in their attitudes towards Moscow; and the differences must have been stimulated by Mr. Khrushchev's overthrow.

In all probability Chou En-lai speaks for those who favor a compromise with Moscow, while Liu Shao-chi urges that the battle against "Khrushchevism" be pressed relentlessly to its conclusion.

Thus, while officially the truce between Moscow and Peking lasts, the struggle between the factions is assuming fresh intensity in each of the two capitals and, indeed, the entire Communist movement.

Working on Christmas mail, will receive federal pay of a dollar-an-hour. A private employer here is liable to court action if he tries to get away with less than $1.25 an hour minimum wage to anyone he employs, casual or not.

Ottawa Offbeat

Longing To Return

By RICHARD JACKSON
Colonist Ottawa Bureau

LISTEN TO WHO'S sounding very like he's preaching for a call. Or perhaps, more accurately, recall.

Who else but the Honorable George H. Hees, former Conservative minister of transport and of trade and commerce, and currently president of the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges.

The Hon. George, in his high and happy political hey-day positively the most personally popular cabinet minister in living memory to come down the Parliament Hill pile, has been making speeches.

In fact, the one powerful political wheeler-dealer who was such a "good-guy-type" that he just grinned amiably and shrugged good-naturedly when not only friends but scarcely nodding acquaintances greeted him as "Gorgeous George," has been stumping the country making almost as many speeches as any one of the far-traveling federal cabinet ministers, and they, if they're not actually electioneering, are giving a quite convincing imitation of it.

"George Boy," as intimates used to call him, has sounded almost wistful, pathetically so, in his obvious longing for a return to the good old political days.

He was sounding off the other day, as you might expect a stock exchange president to do, to a group of business people.

Just the kind of audience for a man of finance to address.

But was he talking market trends? Dealing with the economy? Even trade? Perhaps taxation?

Uh uh. It was politics. The wonderful, wonderful world of political gamesmanship, he seemed to think of it, loving in retrospect.

Just listen to him:

"I believe, in all deepest sincerity, that serving your country in Parliament is no less a national service than serving in the armed forces during wartime."

What, personally, was it like in Parliament?

"... a great sense of personal satisfaction, in the feeling that you are one of those who are helping to shape national policy ..."

It was great to be a member of the Opposition.

It was greater to be on the government side of the House.

It was even greater to be a parliamentary secretary.

And it was the greatest to be a cabinet minister.

Mr. Hees was speaking from experience, for he had been all four.

What's it like, at the top, in the cabinet?

"... the most fascinating job a man could ask for."

"As a cabinet minister, got only will you have the responsibility for your own department but you will, also, as a member of the ministry, have the responsibility for all decisions which the government makes."

"And while at times it is a nerve-wracking and exhausting experience, there is nothing anywhere to compare with it for satisfaction, pride of accomplishment and downright excitement."

Obviously, old politician Hees is finding it extremely difficult, if not impossible, to forget the old thrills, chills—and, yes—spills.

For still ambitious, as he obviously is, for the Conservative leadership, if and when it becomes available, he has been dealing with those "spills," explaining to those who write, and still may be suspicious of his loyalty, just why he abandoned the cabinet ship in the mutiny of the ministry two years ago that brought down the government of former Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

For explain it—and possibly even justify it—he must, if he is ever to hope to ascend to those dizzy political heights which so clearly still fascinate him.

Listen, then, as he explains: "... all cabinet decisions, of course, have to be unanimous ... so, all cabinet ministers must be willing to give way to the majority on matters of routine nature, if their arguments are insufficient to persuade the majority that their point of view should prevail. If, however, a member of the cabinet differs with his colleagues on a matter of principle regarding a question of national importance, or if he believes his government is putting political expediency ahead of the national interest, he has no alternative but to resign. This is something that happens only rarely in Canada."

But not so rarely that Mr. Hees didn't happen to be one of those who resigned.

Diefenbaker Questions Lack of Reply to Police

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said Tuesday he will ask the government to obtain some information regarding the Ontario Police Commission that Justice Minister Favreau made no reply to commission letters about the presence in Canada of persons with criminal backgrounds.

Mr. Diefenbaker quoted the following from the Jan. 31 report of the Ontario Police Commission investigation into organized crime:

"We were concerned to find several immigrants living in Ontario with undesirable reputations and backgrounds of a criminal nature and we wrote twice to the federal minister of citizenship and immigration to obtain some information regarding this.

"When our letters were not acknowledged, we asked the attorney-general to write on our behalf but he too received no answer."

Mr. Favreau was appointed justice minister Feb. 3, 1964, and was citizenship minister at the time referred to by the commission.

The immigration department issued a statement late Tuesday night saying that a letter was sent to Fred Cass, then Ontario attorney general, Feb. 15, 1964, apologizing for the delay. The letter was sent by Mr. Favreau saying that his successor as immigration minister, Rene Tremblay, had the details, the department said.

On March 12, the department added in the statement, Mr. Tremblay wrote Mr. Cass about a matter of deportation asked for by the Ontario authorities.

Mr. Diefenbaker said in an interview that during a recorded interview for the CBC last weekend he quoted the commission and remarked that the matter was worthy of consideration.

The portions dealing with these remarks were cut out when the interview was broadcast Sunday night on the television program This Hour Has Seven Days.

Mr. Diefenbaker was interviewed in connection with charges in the Commons of alleged attempts at bribery and coercion on the part of ministerial assistants.

Police Cars Given 'Political' Transfer

BRANDON (CP) — Car dealer William Wilson says RCMP told him Tuesday they were taking away from his garage the servicing of four cars.

Mr. Wilson, past president of the Progressive Conservative Association of Brandon-Souris, said the cars were going to garages operated by Liberal supporters.

He said the move was political patronage, "of the lowest form."

Mr. Wilson, who owns Wilson Motors, Brandon (59) Limited, said the four cars were bought from his garage in the last two years under a tendering system.

Under a long-standing policy, he said, he would service the cars he sold as long as they remained in Brandon and as long as his service was satisfactory.

He said he had given the RCMP cars service beyond the call of duty, and that he had been given no reason for the move.

The four cars represent about one-fifth of the Brandon RCMP fleet. Others are serviced at three other garages.

He said that in fairness to local RCMP, the move was ordered originally last July 1, and they had been "fighting" it since then.

Principle, rather than profit, was involved, he said in an interview.

COMMONS TOPIC

And now cars were being moved around "to political heels of the Liberal party."

Walter Dinsdale, Progressive Conservative Member of Parliament for Brandon-Souris, said in the Commons Monday orders had been issued to the RCMP in Brandon to relocate the service work for its vehicles, and this was against a long-standing policy of non-partisanship in the purchase of automobiles and trucks by the government.

Canadian Winter, Cuba Both Too Much for Her

TORONTO — A Cuban girl from Canada, Ana Olga Capestany, 19, who leaped into the Atlantic Ocean from a Cuba-bound ship off Florida Sunday was returning because she could not stand Canada's cold and was unable to gain entry to the United States, The Telegram says.

Mrs. Capestany, who had been living with relatives here since August, jumped from the freighter, was picked up by a U.S. Coast Guard vessel and taken to Miami. She has been granted asylum in the U.S., the girl says in an interview.

The cool fall weather in Toronto made her ill and rather than face the winter she decided to leave Canada, she said. Failing to gain entry to the U.S., she agreed to relatives' suggestions and boarded the Cuban freighter in Montreal.

When picked up by the coast guard, the girl said she jumped into the Atlantic "because I would have chosen death rather than return to Cuba."

MIAMI, Fla. — Narcotics agents said they watched while 20-year-old Phillip Weinshenker cultivated his roof garden. Then they confiscated his marijuana farm and placed him under arrest. Weinshenker pleaded guilty to planting 365 marijuana plants in baskets on the roof of his utility room. He was fined $1,000 and placed on three years' probation.

Shumiatcher Free on Bail Until Spring

REGINA (CP) — Regina lawyer Dr. M. C. Shumiatcher was free Tuesday after being granted bail of $15,000 plus two sureties and permission to appeal his conviction and three-year sentence on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the public.

Shumiatcher had been in RCMP custody in Saskatoon since Friday when the case went to a Court of Queen's Bench jury after a nine-week trial.

In Regina, Chief Justice E. M. Culliton, who granted bail, said the appeal would not be heard before the next regular sitting of the Saskatchewan Court of Appeal, probably in March.

Mrs. Moran said she would appeal the decision.

First Canadian Christmas

Heart Team Saves Girl

WINNIPEG (CP) — A heart surgery team here has given a Chinese girl a new lease on life for her first Christmas in Canada.

Kam Wah Chan, 14, is recovering in Children's Hospital following an Oct. 3 operation that implanted an artificial valve in her heart.

Doctors say she may be able to spend Christmas at her Winnipeg home with her parents, two sisters and a brother.

The family immigrated to Winnipeg from Hong Kong last June. The girl was a near-invalid because of a deficiency in the heart's mitral valve.

In a five-hour operation, a surgical team restored the heart to normal operation with a valve made of plastic and metal. It will last a lifetime.

The faulty valve, apparently a result of rheumatic fever, caused a circulation problem that made her so weak she could not eat without assistance.

The hospital is teaching the girl English, arithmetic and other subjects and she is doing well.

Said one nurse: "Kam Wah has even taught some of us Chinese knitting."

Britain to Support U.S. Asian Policy

LONDON (UPI) — Britain assured U.S. undersecretary of state George Ball Tuesday that it will support the U.S. policy of containment of Communism in Southeast Asia, short of war.

Ball ended a two-day fact-finding mission in London in preparation for next week's Washington talks between President Johnson and Prime Minister Wilson.

Diplomatic sources said the British expressed their backing for America's policy of containing Communist aggression in Viet Nam although they were opposed to carrying the war into Communist North Viet Nam.

In return, the sources said, the Labor government hoped for strong American support against Indonesia's campaign to crush British-backed Malaysia.

Lindsay Ending
Long Service

The man who instituted B.C.'s vehicles branch into the electronic age.

George Lindsay is also credited with developing the system of periodic examinations for all licensed drivers in B.C. and standards of physical fitness as a guide for physicians in determining the ability of their patients to drive safely.

He is to be succeeded by Ray Hadfield who has been deputy superintendent since 1962.

HOST OF FRIENDS

Attorney-General Robert Bonner, in announcing the change, praised Mr. Lindsay as an outstanding administrator and said he has been "one of the anchor men" in the department.

"George Lindsay has had a long career in the public service of B.C. He has a host of friends, both in the government and among the public with whom he had to deal, and it is with the greatest of regret that with respect to his personal wish I received and accepted his resignation," said Mr. Bonner.

Mr. Hadfield, who is 49, is expected to lead the motor

"I've worked closely with Mr. Lindsay for the past 12 years and the policies are ones which have been commonly developed and will be carried over and extended as the vehicle-driver population grows," he said Tuesday.

"We are on the verge of entering into electronic data processing and great emphasis will be placed on this in the next few years to provide greater availability of records."

Mr. Hadfield is the son of former Esquimalt reeve Thomas Hadfield, who after 25 years of public service in that municipality served as magistrate in Qualicum Beach until his retirement in July, 1963.

SINCE 1931

Ray Hadfield graduated from Esquimalt High School at the age of 16. He went to work as a junior clerk in May 1932 at the age of 17, when the branch was still a division of the provincial police.

He is married, has three sons and is a graduate of the first class in an executive development training program conducted by the civil service commission at UBC.

Victorian Fined
For Guitar Theft

A Victoria man who stole and pawned a $300 guitar in Sooke was fined $50 and sentenced to one day in jail Tuesday by Sooke Magistrate Eugene Murphy.

Roderick Palm, 515 Niagara, had pleaded guilty to the theft last week and was remanded for a pre-sentence report.

In the same court, a 20-year-old sailor was released on $500 bail and remanded without plea for a week.

SCALP WOUND

Daniel Fletcher, of HMCS Ottawa, is charged with assaulting a Sooke man with a pop bottle. William B. Wilson suffered a seven-stitch scalp wound in a fracas last week.

Robert Nelson of Sooke, charged with criminal negligence after five men were bowled over by a car in the Sooke Community Hall parking lot Nov. 23, was remanded to Dec. 22 when a date will be set for preliminary hearing.

The court was told further delays in the hearing may be required to allow witnesses to complete hospital treatment.

Sewer Survey

Esquimalt
Agrees
To Pay More

Esquimalt has agreed to pay an additional $25 to the cost of a sewer survey in the Greater Victoria area as its share of aid to Central Saanich's payment.

Victoria and Saanich have not yet given their decision on the new cost-sharing formula.

Reeve A. C. Wurtele said Oak Bay had already agreed to the increase.

The revised totals were put before Esquimalt council Monday night.

FORMULA REVISED

Central Saanich had asked to be dropped from the survey when it was learned the municipality's share of the cost would be $5,197.

Under the new formula Central Saanich would pay $1,720 and the remainder would be split between the other municipalities.

Saanich would pay $23,826 instead of the original $30,324; Victoria $15,059 instead of $13,825; Oak Bay $5,094 instead of $4,712; Esquimalt $3,322 instead of $3,257 and Sidney $401 instead of $544.

The provincial government's share will be $21,275 of the $69,300 total cost.

Council Reserves:

Place for Everything

Assembly areas in the legislative wing of the new city hall will be used for council business or business related to council and for nothing else, it was decided on Tuesday.

The council chamber itself will be used for formal meetings of city council and for social functions at which the mayors and aldermen are hosts on behalf of the city.

The ante-room to the chamber will be used as an overflow area for public attendance at council meetings for use with the chamber as an area for reception and as a display area for Victorian-linked historic exhibitions.

An exception will be made for the choir of schoolchildren who will be carolling in the Centennial Square area during the week beginning on Dec. 14.

Committee rooms in the building will be used for regular standing committee sessions, meetings of elected or appointed city officials for intermunicipal meetings and for sessions of boards and commissions relating to city business.

DISCRETION
The aldermen's lounge is something else again. After some discussion — during which Ald. Geoffrey Edgell said that he intended to ask permission from no one if he wished to bring friends into the lounge — it was decided to leave the matter to aldermanic discretion.

It was even suggested by City Manager Dennis Young that it might be possible to have morning coffee served there at some future date.

Re-election Bid

Saanich Councillor Urges Greater Representation

Todd

Appealing for greater representation on district 61 school board and establishment of a chamber of commerce, Saanich Councillor Harold Todd has launched his re-election campaign.

Mr. Todd was critical of the board's present makeup of four members from Victoria, two each from Saanich and Oak Bay and one from Esquimalt.

He said the Saanich assessment is double that of Oak Bay and four times greater than Esquimalt.

NEW MEMBER
Although the assessment is below Victoria's, Mr. Todd pointed out that Saanich "now has as many if not more people than Victoria," and urged authorities to add at least one more Saanich member.

Mr. Todd also appealed for the establishment of a Saanich chamber of commerce or board of trade because of the municipality's growing residential and business problems.

Using Oak Bay and Sidney as examples of areas with their own chambers, Mr. Todd said the problems of Saanich businessmen are probably not the same as those in the downtown area.

Are you the one person in three who might benefit from a low-cost Seaboard Mortgage Loan?

Borrow up to $10,000- as long as 10 years

What is a Seaboard Mortgage Loan? It is a low-cost loan for people who own, or are in the process of buying a home. The money you have invested in your property is excellent collateral for a Seaboard Mortgage Loan. And this means you get one of the lowest rates of interest to be found anywhere, because real estate offers such excellent security. A Seaboard Mortgage Loan has the added advantage of letting you borrow up to 80% of the value of your property, as compared to approximately 66% for most conventional mortgages.

When should you take out a Seaboard Mortgage Loan? Only when it's to your advantage. This can be worked out between you and your Seaboard manager. You and he may find that a Seaboard Mortgage Loan can help you, as it has other people:

- To reduce your monthly mortgage payments.
- To pay off high-cost charge accounts and loans for furniture, car, clothing, etc. Often articles which you think you are buying at a saving are actually costing you an unnecessarily high price because of the variety of service and interest charges.
- To put your children through university or to make home improvements.
- To help you purchase a new or older home if you are having difficulty in raising the necessary mortgage money.

- To assist you in selling your home if a prospective buyer has difficulty in raising cash to your mortgage.

How much can you borrow? You can take out a Seaboard Mortgage Loan up to $10,000 or 80% of the fair valuation of your home. What's more, monthly payments can be planned to fit your budget and leave you with extra cash each month.

How about monthly payments? You can take up to 10 years to repay your Seaboard Mortgage Loan and monthly payments can be arranged to suit your budget. Interest rates are low—approximately 12% a year computed monthly on the unpaid balance. This means that each payment you make reduces the amount of interest you pay.

What special benefits do you receive from dealing with Seaboard?

- Your contract can be renegotiated anytime.
- Special low-cost life insurance available that pays your contract in full in event of death.
- Contract can be repaid at any time.
- No brokerage fees.
- No "balance" or "balloon payments."
- Minimum registration, appraisal and legal fees.
- All terms fully explained so that you completely understand your contract.
- Seaboard's years of experience in the mortgage loan business.

Phone or write for all the details about the low-cost Seaboard mortgage loan. Or, better still, call in for a personal interview with your Seaboard manager. Evening appointments can be arranged.

Inquests Scheduled Into Two Deaths

An inquest into the shooting death of Gary Austin Moonie has been scheduled for 10 a.m. Thursday at Chapin's Funeral Chapel, 1155 Fort Street.

The hearing will probably deal only with identification and medical testimony and then be adjourned, said Coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre.

FORMALLY CHARGED

The 41-year-old Saanich hotel barman died Monday afternoon at Royal Jubilee Hospital. His son, Gary Allan Moonie, 21, was formally charged with non-capital murder in Saanich magistrate's court Tuesday. He was remanded to 2:15 p.m. today to allow time for his counsel, Hugh McGivern, to come from Vancouver.

Lloyd McKenzie appeared for the Crown.

Also scheduled by the coroner was an inquest into the death of 75-year-old Colwood pedestrian William S. Charnell, 318 Goldstream.

The elderly man died in hospital Saturday. He had been admitted to Royal Jubilee Hospital after being struck by a car near Colwood Corners Nov. 28.

The inquest was tentatively set for 10 a.m. Friday at Sands Mortuary Ltd., 1803 Quadra.

Legal Aid Asked By Accused Man

A Saanich man accused of breaking, entering and theft, asked Tuesday in Saanich magistrate's court for legal aid.

Magistrate William Ostler set bail for Robert Peter Martyns, 1731 Mortimer, at $500. He was remanded without plea to Dec. 3.

The accused man was arrested Nov. 30 after a prowler was reported in an apartment at 1720 Newton Street.

Police are seeking a quantity of meat which is reported missing from a freezer in the apartment.

Henry M. O'Neill, of no fixed address, knew what he was doing when he fraudulently obtained more than $100 worth of merchandise on another man's credit card, ruled Magistrate Ostler. The accused had blamed the acts on liquor.

Magistrate Ostler sentenced O'Neill to two years in the penitentiary. He said he had to take into consideration O'Neill's long criminal record of theft and robbery back to 1951.

Baseball Riddle Solved

Vancouver Returns to PCL

HOUSTON (AP) — A crisis was narrowly avoided in the Pacific Coast League Tuesday night when the Los Angeles Angels agreed to switch a working agreement from Hawaii to Seattle.

As a result Vancouver is back in the league. The near-crisis developed earlier in the day when the Boston Red Sox announced they were pulling out of Seattle and setting up their Class AAA operation closer to home, in Toronto.

This threw the entire league into a turmoil. Washington, which had a partial working agreement with Toronto last season, refused to work with Seattle.

To make matters worse, the league had been ready to give a franchise to Vancouver to restore membership to 12 teams. But league president Dewey Soriano said Vancouver could not be admitted until the league was sure Seattle was able to operate in 1963.

An amicable solution was finally reached when the Angels agreed to transfer their affiliation to Seattle, enabling Washington to set up a working agreement with Hawaii. The Red Sox, of course, remained in Toronto.

Greatly relieved, Soriano immediately accepted Vancouver into the league, thus avoiding a possible 10-team operation. The Kansas

City Athletics previously had agreed to form a working agreement with the Canadian club. "We are very pleased with the arrangements," said Soriano. "We fully understand the problems of the Boston club."

"Also, we are very proud to have Washington as a member of the Pacific Coast League in a working agreement arrangement."

Mike Higgins, general manager of the Red Sox, explained the Red Sox left Seattle because it is costly to maintain a farm club so far from Boston.

Canucks Tie Bucks For Second Place

VANCOUVER — Vancouver Canucks outdistanced the league-leading Seattle Totems, 2-1, here Tuesday night to regain a share of second place, with Portland Buckaroos, in the Western Hockey League.

A screened shot by defence-man Mo Marzetta in the seventh minute of the first period was all that the Totems could get against a solid checking performance and a solid job of net-minding by Gilles Villeneuve.

And then two real veterans won it for Canucks in the second period. Assistant coach Larry Poppin, 34, and usually more prominent for his defensive play and penalty-killing chores, got matters squared away with his fourth goal of the season, netting the puck into an open net after Jim McLeod had gone down to save on Bruce Carmichael. Then 37-year-old Phil Maloney followed with what was to prove the winning shot.

It was the ninth win in 11 home games for Canucks and the fifth loss in 10 road games for Totems, who have built up a five-point lead on their excellence on home ice.

First Period — Seattle, Marzetta (Volder, Powers) 1-0. Portland — Matthews (V) 0-0. Player (V) 13-34. Second Period — Vancouver, Poppin (Poppin, Car-michael) 2-0. 12 Daily Colonist, Victoria, B.C., Wed., Dec. 2, 1964

OUTDOORS with Alec Merriman

Sports fishermen should know in June, July and August the effect of the federal fisheries department's proposed sports limit cutbacks and the closure of winter commercial fishing in Gulf of Georgia and southern Vancouver Island waters.

The way they should be able to tell will be by more and bigger coho from the summer fishery from Campbell River right around to Albert Head, Beechey Head and Sooke waters may receive only marginal benefits.

Federal fisheries hopes to implement the four salmon of 12 inches or more sports limit early in January so as to protect this season's crop of bluebacks. At the same time the commercial fishing closure would be extended until April 14. The commercial fishery already shut down this week for December and January.

Fisheries officials estimate that 650,000 resident spring and coho salmon are caught annually in the Campbell River to Victoria waterfront waters... and they estimate that 120,000 of that number are grise taken by sports fishermen.

They now expect about the same number of fish to be caught, but they expect them to be caught as bigger salmon in the tourist travel months.

Alternative to a cutback in limits was a sports fishing closure for the winter months... and this was favored by some sports fishermen like Roderick Haig-Brown... but fisheries officials felt a closure would work a hardship in southern island waters, especially Saanich Inlet where there is a big winter sports fishery.

On Jan. 4 fisheries biologists will start a crash tagging program in Saanich Inlet in an attempt to find out if the big grise population in Saanich Inlet would provide a good blue-back or coho fishery in June, July and August in the Victoria area as well as Saanich Inlet.

They point out Victoria area has had only one good July fishing period in eight years and they fear over-fishing of Saanich Inlet grise may be one reason. It is believed the July fish in the Victoria area are resident coho, independent of the late August and September coho that come in from the sea.

Biologists hope to tag 10,000 grise in Saanich Inlet this winter, compared to a maximum 1,000 in the past two years. Tagging programs to date have shown some interesting patterns of coho movement.

Crofton-tagged grise start to move out of Crofton in mid-March and almost all of them move northward to Campbell River, contributing to sports and commercial fisheries all the way up the coast.

Saanich Inlet grise stayed in that area with some moving to areas to the south, east, to the Gulf Islands and a percentage to the west coast. Some went to Crofton, but none further. A definite separation of populations has been shown at Crofton.

Grise tagged in Discovery Passage moved down to Campbell River. Campbell River seems to be the most favored fishing spot on the east coast with two different resident stocks contributing to the fishery... from the north and from the south. They vary in size and abundance and the two stocks are quite definable. Fish from the north tend to be bigger but abundance varies from year to year.

There hasn't been too much result from tagging of the spring grise yet, but recoveries to date point to a multi-age resident stock of springs in the Strait of Georgia, which are being fished as two, three and four years of age.

Biologists describe them "like trout in a pond... once you fish too hard you catch them too young."

Biologists say they can carry out the east coast of the Island, southern Gulf Islands and Victoria salmon movement studies themselves, but studies in the Sooke area will have to be on an international basis and they predict that within the next two or three years the international spring and coho study will move into Juan de Fuca Strait. It appears fish from the Swiftsure area tend to penetrate far into the Strait, to Sooke and sometimes further.

The federal biologists admit that the Juan de Fuca net fishery may have some effect on sports catches in Sooke and Victoria waters in August and September when the outside fish are entering the Strait.

But, they point out that the July and early August fishery is made up of feeding resident fish. Victoria is no different than any other place. If you are going to have good coho fishing you must have resident fish. We are trying to protect them in the winter months. Heavy fishing in January and February may affect July, August and September fishing, they point out.

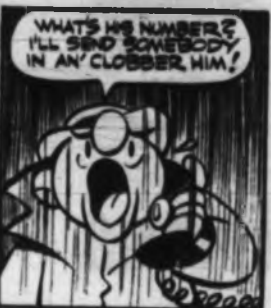

Federal biologists point to a rapidly expanding commercial catch of spring salmon in waters from Ladysmith to Sooke... 1,500 pieces in 1951-52 to 27,000 pieces in 1963, half of them taken in winter months.

They want to reverse the trend and see 70 per cent of the catch taken in July and August to increase the poundage of the catch.

They acknowledge the day may be coming when all commercial fishing will be banned in the Gulf of Georgia.

Meanwhile federal fisheries have started a closer watch on the incidence of grise taken in herring seine nets. Last weekend fisheries boats checked grise catches on trollers and seiners working off the Victoria area.

Yankees To Trade Blanchard?

HOUSTON (AP) — Chicago's two baseball clubs—the White Sox and the Cubs — swapped players for the first time in their long history Tuesday but another first of more significance may develop at the baseball convention.

New York Yankees and San Francisco Giants are this close to completing a deal that would send outfielder-catcher Johnny Blanchard to the National League club in exchange for pitchers Billy O'Dell and Bob Shaw.

Should this deal be consummated, it would mark the first time the Yankees and their former New York rivals have actually traded players. The Giants did send Johnny Mize to the Yankees back in 1959 but that was a straight sale.

The trade between the two Chicago clubs sent pitcher Frank Busmann to the Cubs of the National League in exchange for catcher Jimmie Schaffer.

Earlier in the day two American League clubs—Washington Senators and Cleveland Indians — completed a deal that sent outfielder Chuck Hinton to the Indians in exchange for first baseman Bob Chance and infielder-outfielder Wondie Held.

... Can Spring Be Far Behind?

With winter getting its grip on the land, what's more natural to think about springtime and baseball? Lum Harris, left, manager of the Houston club and Johnny Keane, New York Yankee manager, look over new covered ball-park where their clubs will play an exhibition game April 9. Houston's new team is Astros, in honor of space research centre in Houston. Shootin' iron company objected to use of name "Colt 45s."

Could Be Ullman's Season To Capture All-Star Label

Normie Ullman has been a victim of circumstances throughout his 10 years in the National Hockey League, but this could be his season.

Not only has he played in Gordie Howe's shadow, but Ullman is a centre and competes for attention at this position with such stars as Stan Mikita, Jean Beliveau, Dave Keon and Henri Richard.

NEVER STAR

Because of these hazards, one of the league's most talented performers has become its most under-rated. Ullman is the fourth player in NHL history to score more than 200 goals without gaining a berth on a first or second all-star team.

The 29-year-old native of Provost, Alberta, however, could pick up all the marbles this season.

SLOW STARTER

Traditionally a slow starter, Ullman already has 10 goals and 11 assists in 20 games, only two points less than league-leading Bobby Hull. Ullman scored only four times in his first 33 games last season, but wound up with 21 goals and a career high of 55 points.

He may also get a larger share of the recognition he deserves. Howe and Beliveau are both slowing down, Richard and Keon seem injury-prone and Mikita has slipped behind Ullman in the scoring race.

Ullman doesn't suffer by comparison to Mikita. At the start of last year's semi-final between Detroit and Chicago, Black Hawks coach Billy Reay said the player he feared most on the Wings was Ullman.

The statistics proved Reay correct. Ullman, playing opposite Mikita, led the series with six goals and seven assists while holding Mikita to three goals and six assists. While facing Ullman, Mikita scored just twice and had three assists, two of them on the power play.

TOO VALUABLE

Detroit coach Sid Abel feels Ullman is too valuable to play on the same line with right winger Howe.

"Both Normie and Gord are puck carriers and stick-handlers. If Ullman was out with Howe, one of them would be left standing with little to do and that would be foolish. Naturally, it's better to spread the talent around."

Vice-president Len Leach, second vice-president Murray Dunnett, secretary-treasurer Cliff Timothy and Jack Walker complete the executive.

CHICAGO (UPI)—If you're a fight fan, or friend or admirer of the world heavyweight boxing champion, he left a message for you today.

"Through the media of the press, I wish to extend to (sic) my sincere thanks and gratification for the warm sympathy and concern extended to me by fight fans, friends, newsmen and admirers throughout the world on the occasion of my recent surgical operation in Boston City Hospital," Muhammad Ali wrote.

"The cordiality and friendship expressed by so many fans was welcomed and appreciated and will forever serve as an inspiration and guidance during my long reign as world heavyweight champ."

"I regret the disappointments caused by the necessary cancellation of the Dec. (sic) 18th world heavyweight contest with challenger Sonny Liston. I also regret the serious inconveniences and disappointments the cancellation must have caused within the camp of my opponent; and while the postponement will still result in my victory, I do not overlook the fact that both Mr. Liston and myself, as prize fighters, are beset with much occupational hazards, impossible to anticipate or prevent."

Prosperity the Key

Bingo Replacing Boxing In Hearts of U.K. Fans

By DOUG MARSHALL

LONDON (CP)—It isn't the charges that boxing is medically dangerous that are sending the sport into a slump, the British experts say. It isn't really television either.

It's the affluent society. These days professional boxing is sick in every country of the world except the poorer parts of Latin America, Africa and the Far East.

Boxing, it seems, is something that flourishes when times are tough. It is an inexpensive and exciting spectator sport that manufactures folk heroes for generations that have little else to cheer about.

This is the argument currently going the rounds in England where, since 1945, boxing rings have been disappearing as fast as bingo halls go up and every new car owner means one boxing fan less.

Since 1950 the number of professional tournaments has dropped to 163 a year from 703. During the last five years the rank of licensed professionals have thinned to 508 from 643. "Boxing will be dead within 20 years," predicts British light-heavyweight Terry Downes who has laid plans for retirement by buying a Rolls Royce, a $100,000 house and investing in a chain of betting shops.

Other boxing men wouldn't go that far but they're still pessimistic.

YIELDS TO BINGO

Birmingham promoter Alex Griffiths says he has been squeezed out of his old arena by bingo sessions. Norfolk promoter Ralph Butler has switched to wrestling "because it has more color, more action and, above all, people come."

Teddy Waltham, secretary of the British Boxing Board of Control, agrees that fewer and fewer young men are prepared to go the trouble of training, fighting and risking injury just for money. They can get £18 a week or more as unskilled laborers on any building site in the land.

PROSPERITY HURTS

Prosperity has also hurt amateur boxing, traditional playground for the professional prize. Membership in the Amateur Boxing Association has dropped by 10,000 during the last 10 years; every year 15 more amateur clubs close down.

ABA secretary William Lovett says once youngsters were content to spend their time on a cheap hobby like boxing. Now they have money they spend their time on girls and cars.

Their only place where boxing seems to be thriving in Britain are the growing number of private and exclusive sporting clubs where gladiator-style after-dinner matches are staged at £25 a plate for charity.

Boxing as a spectacle for the masses and the poor kid's path to glory is vanishing.

In Britain, at any rate, it is fast becoming a members-only cabaret show for businessmen with big expense accounts.

Griffith By TKO

LONDON (AP)—World welterweight champion Emile Griffith stopped British lightweight king Dave Charnley in the ninth round of a non-title 10-round here Tuesday.

The New Yorker outclassed the southpaw all the way. Griffith sent Charnley to the canvas for a count of eight in the third round.

No Access To Hunters

Hunters get an extra weekend of deer hunting this year, but Victoria fish and game access gates will likely be closed this weekend.

Access chairman Bob Kennedy reports he cannot find enough members to undertake gate duty for the extra weekend. Closed will be Gordon River and 19 (Robertson River) Creek in Cowichan Lake area and Muir Creek. Butlers was closed anyway because the timber claim owners don't approve of deer shooting.

Eight Straight

St. Louis College basketball team won its eighth straight game at St. Patrick's gym last night. They defeated Metropolitan, 43-27. John Smith had 15 points and Pat Griffin had 14 for the winners.

AT THE 19th

With Harry Young

The flurries of snow that fell over the weekend only partially stopped golf in Victoria, and most of the scheduled events were carried through.

An exception was at Colwood, where sufficient snow lay on the greens and fairways to put the course out of commission on Saturday and Sunday.

As a result the final of the Bryant Cup was postponed for a week.

Better luck attended the district button matches played at Uplands. In both the open and junior events the challengers were held off.

Bill Wakeham and Noel Pumfrey of Gorge Vale combined well to beat Royal Colwood's team of Bill Court and Joe Evans by 2 and 1, and they are now in line to meet George Bigelow and Ron MacLeod of Victoria.

This match will not be played until Dec. 20, as this Sunday the Gorge players are taking part in the club's annual turkey shoot, and the following Sunday is reserved for the final round of the district monthly medal contest.

In the junior buttons, Bob Zabel and Marty Smith of Uplands showed that their victory over Ricky Kent and Urban Allan of Royal Colwood the previous week was no fluke. They beat Gorge Vale's Rick Bath and Wally Doan by 3 and 2.

Although Zabel and Smith are comparative newcomers to the local competitive golf scene, Uplands club pro, John Wren says they are two keen youngsters with sound potential for improvement.

The entry form for the Christmas Tree competition will appear in The Daily Colonist Sunday, Dec. 6. The competition this year is at Royal Colwood, on Saturday, Dec. 25.

The entry fee of $5 includes green fees and prize fund contribution.

Woodward's Stores co-operating with The Daily Colonist will have a gift for every man and woman competitor, while the trophies and catering, including a roast beef lunch, are provided by The Daily Colonist.

The number of competitors will be limited to the available starting times, and those intending to take part should mail in their entries as soon after next Sunday as possible.

The chief executive officers of the Royal Colwood Golf Club were re-elected at the annual meeting held last week. Don Ross takes on another spell as president with John F. Parker as vice-president. Derek Rhys-Jones will be club captain for a second period.

The only newcomer to the board of directors is H. Renzie Haynes. He was elected along with Ross, Parker and Dr. Gordon Clay who were standing for re-election.

Annual presentation of prizes was held in the Victoria clubhouse with president Bill Munro in the chair. The president had the extra pleasure of handing over the club championship trophy to his nephew Doug Munro. It was the first time the young Munro had won the title, which for some time has been pretty well monopolized by George Bigelow and Bill McColl. Members were piped into dinner by Ronnie Scott-McCormick.

Greens convener Dick Clay is wasting no time in getting the Victoria Golf Club in shape for the 1967 Commonwealth Matches. Two new tees — at the 11th and 16th have been built and turfed and are expected to be in play some time next year. Preparations are also being made to have the 18th hole lengthened with a new back tee.

The changes being made will increase the length of the Victoria back nine by about 120 yards, to 3,340 yards, and will make it one of the toughest per 36s in the district.

Royal Colwood took possession of the senior district buttons last week when Jim Dahl and Roy Johnson shed a last hole win over the holders, Pete McIntyre and John Sturdy of Victoria. The match was played at Uplands. Next challengers at Victoria are Chris Archer and Jack Clark of Gorge Vale.

Mahovlich Skates With Leafs Again

TORONTO (CP)—Frank Mahovlich practised with his Toronto Maple Leafs teammates Tuesday for the first time since he was admitted to hospital Nov. 12 suffering from an undisclosed ailment.

However, the mystery surrounding Mahovlich's illness became no clearer as the left-wing star for the National Hockey League team refused to talk about why he was in the hospital.

"I feel fine," he told reporters. "I'll be back tomorrow and I'll work out a little more each day till I'm ready to play."

His wife Marie and the team's assistant general manager escorted Mahovlich back to the Toronto General Hospital immediately after the game.

One of Mahovlich's doctors spilt what was perhaps the most rampant rumor. Asked if the big 14 was being treated for cancer, Dr. Tate McPhedran said, "That's simply not true."

It was learned however, that Tuesday was not Mahovlich's first outing from the hospital since Nov. 12.

He skated at a suburban Toronto rink with his wife last week while Leafs were on an extended road trip.

Observers at the practice session Tuesday said Mahovlich was skating and shooting as well as ever. He skated with the team during the entire 45-minute drill.

Mahovlich told reporters:

"If you want any information on my condition you will have to talk to Dr. (Hugh) Smythe."

Mahovlich said he didn't know when he would be able to return to the Leafs full-time, but added his physicians will let him out of hospital to practice.

Dr. Smythe said earlier he would not discuss the nature of Mahovlich's illness.

Mahovlich entered hospital for a checkup after complaining of fatigue.

Russian, Czech Hockey Tours

Good Test for Canada's Team

MELVILLE, Sask. (CP)—The Russian national hockey team, winners in the 1964 Olympics, will play an eight-game exhibition series in Canada, opening in Montreal, Dec. 11.

Gordon Jukes of Melville, Sask., Canadian Amateur Hockey Association secretary-manager, announced Tuesday the Russian team will meet an augmented Montreal Junior Canadiens squad.

The Russians then will meet Canada's national team in Toronto Sunday, Dec. 13.

Other games scheduled are: Dec. 15, Fort William, lakehead senior all-stars;

Dec. 17 and 20, Winnipeg, Canada Nationals;

Dec. 18, Saskatoon, Saskatoon Quakers;

Dec. 21, Edmonton, Edmonton Junior Oil Kings, and

Dec. 22, Trail, Western International League all-stars.

Following their Canadian tour, Russia's No. 1 hockey club will leave for Colorado Springs where they will compete with Canadian and Czechoslovak national teams for the Walter Brown Memorial Trophy. The competition will feature six games in which the teams will meet each other twice.

Jukes said the Russian tour of Canada, plus four games in Canada by the Czechoslovak national team in January, and the international tournament in Colorado Springs would provide Canadians with a preview of the annual world tournament in Tampere, Finland, in March 1965.

"Altogether the tours and the tournament will give the Canadian team an opportunity to play the Russians five times and the Czechoslovak team four times," he said. "These, plus the two games the Czechs and Russians will play, should give a good indication of the competition in Finland next spring."

The Russian team touring Canada will have 26 players, coaches, managers and officials in the party. Jukes said that revenue from the tour will be used to help finance the Canadian national team.

The 1965 Canadian team is a continuation of the national program started in 1963 under Rev. David Bauer. It is made up of some 13 university students, many of whom saw action in the 1964 Olympics, with the balance coming from Winnipeg Maroons, 1964 Allan Cup champions.

Lions Pay Grey Cup Penalty —Late in Football Recruiting

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dave Skrien, coach of the Grey Cup champion B.C. Lions, has got troubles—recruiting troubles.

"I don't know what to do or where to go," he said in an interview Tuesday.

"We were late in starting with our plans (for 1965) ... never been this late before."

"It's nice though, isn't it?"

He was referring to the fact that late in getting started on plans for the 1965 version of the Lions was due to their 34-24 victory over Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the Grey Cup final in Toronto last Saturday.

ALWAYS LATE

Grey Cup winners are always late in getting started on plans for the following year. Usually they have to be wined and dined before they can get going with plans for next year.

But there will be no public reception here for Lions, much to the disappointment of fans who wished to gladhand the Canadian football kings.

IN NASSAU

For one thing 11 of the Lions aren't even here. Tom Brown, Steve Cotter, Lonnie Dennis, Dick Fouts, Paul Seale, Greg Findlay and Steve Shafer are enjoying the Nassau sunshine.

Ken Sugarman went home to Spokane. Norm Fieldgate is in Regina. Ron Morris is in Tulsa, and Emery Barnes is in New York.

Sometime before Skrien and his assistants, Jim Champlin and Frank Johnston go recruiting, they should know the future plans of By Bailey, an 11-year-up football to concentrate more veteran with the team. He has on his job. He'll make up his mind by the weekend.

Good for Business

VANCOUVER (CP)—Possessing the Grey Cup has produced results described as "unbelievable" by the office staff of the British Columbia Lions.

Vida Scott, Lions' office director since the club was formed 11 years ago, said fans began seeking season passes for 1965 early Monday morning.

"It was unbelievable," she said.

"I don't know where all the people came from and those phone calls—we couldn't count the number. ... Those who phoned wanted to know when they could come in and pick up season tickets for next year."

"Those who came in wanted to buy them here and now."

SINGER

When Ted first joined our staff we didn't know what to make of it. So we asked him the reason why he was singing all the time. He then gave us plenty of reasons. "It's as simple as Dr. J. M.," he explained. "Just at all the beauty and rhythm in those '45 records. Listen the time ... the whole competition ... it's classic and even those guys are a song. If you'd like to know more, what Ted is singing about, ask him for the key to."

Jinx?

Maybe Not This Time

Is Elvis Presley Jinx For Leading Ladies?

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Is Elvis Presley a jinx for his leading ladies? That question will never rank with "What hath God wrought?" or "To be, or not to be?" but it is of passing interest to young actresses who co-star with Mr. Presley.

Remember that old saying: "They're never the same once they play Notre Dame." Well, the same might be said for actresses co-starring with the Tennessee terror.

CURVACEOUS
A Presley movie is box office insurance. But the picture must show a great many close-ups of Elvis and feature him in not less than a dozen songs. When the singing and close-ups are over there isn't much celluloid left for his leading lady. Sure, she sneaks into a few frames, but they are generally love scenes with Elvis.

Now comes a curvaceous English beauty—Jocelyn Lane—who co-stars with Mr. Presley in Tickle Me and who hopes to change all that.

"I've never noticed his leading ladies before," said Jocelyn in a dark corner of the Hollywood Brown Derby. "They were so indistinct except for Ann-Margret and Juliet Prowse who were rather well known."

DURING, AFTER WORK
"The Presley jinx is entirely the fault of the girls who work with him. I've found it a pleasure to be his leading lady."

Like most of the others, Jocelyn finds it a pleasure to date Elvis after working hours. She blushed prettily and admitted that she and Mr. Presley were after-hour companions.

Jocelyn is an interesting girl, born in Vienna of a Russian mother and an English father. She was raised in New Rochelle, N.Y., educated in London, and is an English citizen.

LIKE B.B.
She looks amazingly like Brigitte Bardot, both facially and, er... well in silhouette.

Jocelyn's role in the Allied Artists production enables her to wear a bikini, which is something she does very well. It is unlikely her scenes in that particular costume will end up on the cutting room floor—not even for Presley back-and-forth-with guitar.

"They say Elvis rarely appears with an established star as a leading lady," Jocelyn—the jinx-breaker said. "It takes sense."

"Elvis' girls have to be young, and it's difficult to find established stars in their teens or early 20s. I'm 24."

War, Suicide Synonymous Teens Told
Dr. Brock Chisholm, former director of the World Health Organization, told 30 high school students at a Y-Teens meeting in the YWCA that steps must be taken to halt the world's population explosion.

In a talk entitled New Thinking, he also said that warfare has become synonymous with suicide.

Jan Hoosen, chairman of the Y-Teens meeting, said Mr. Chisholm's topic was "aimed at giving youth something to think about."

Panelists Air Their Views

Is Police Image Tarnished?

Gregory

By AL. AMASON

Police and the public must share the blame for whatever unpopularity lawmen suffer, a panel of experts decided Tuesday.

The four men on the panel aired their views at the Tuesday meeting of the Victoria Kiwanis Club at the Empress.

Moderator R. T. Batey, a Victoria radio station executive, guided two police chiefs, a judge and deputy attorney general Dr. Gilbert Kennedy through a series of questions about relationships between the public and the police.

On the panel were Victoria police chief John Gregory, Saanich police chief W. A. Pearson and Family and Children's Court Judge Harold Alder.

Chief Pearson said carefully-selected, mentally and physically-fit policemen today bear the stigma of the evils of police systems of old.

Through the days when a man had only to be related to an alderman's wife to be qualified for membership in a police force are gone forever—much of the public doesn't seem to realize it.

Even today, the chief continued, it isn't easy to control a policeman's temperament. It's the job of the police executive to watch his men for signs of errors of attitude.

On the other hand, he continued, abusive and unreasonable members of the public make it difficult for policemen to maintain proper attitudes.

The chief constables also split on whether the word "cop" is detrimental or not.

"I resent it. Unfortunately it's a word that has become a colloquialism, but I have always thought of it as derogatory," Chief Gregory said.

Chief Pearson took a different view. "I don't mind being called a cop. It's the adjectives some people put in front of the word that bother me," he said.

Judge Alder said the way the word is used makes the difference.

Police are not "taking the rap" for inefficient courts, the panel agreed. Chief Gregory summed it up. The police and court system of the democracies isn't perfect, but it is the best there is in the world.

"If a man is a witness to an accident he might not come forward to give evidence as he knows he should."

This is because it may cost him a lot of valuable time and cause a lot of trouble.

Yates Mall Denied

Citing a precedent in the closing off of Broad Street between Fort and View, merchants of the 700 Block, Yates asked Tuesday that their block be closed to traffic for three days before Christmas.

The request got short shrift from members of the city council traffic committee. A motion by Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow that the request be granted was defeated. He was its only supporter.

FAMILY DAYS

Outlining their Christmas program which includes "family days" during which there will be Santa Claus, carol singers and give-aways, the merchants asked for closure from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Dec. 5 and Dec. 12, and on Dec. 23 from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.

"Broad street is part of a plan," said Mayor R. B. Wilson. "It is important as a small mall and we have merely advanced the date of such a mall."

TRAFFIC CHAOS

"Because city council closes a street in one place doesn't mean it has to do it in another," said Ald. Millard Mooney.

Closure of the street would mean traffic chaos, said Ald. A. W. Toone.

In or Out?

Horses Spur Debate

The Thetis Lake Nature Sanctuary Association thinks there should be a ban on horse-riding on their plant preserve on the east side of the lake near Seymour Mountain. Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, a horseman, thinks not.

"All parks should be for all the people," said the alderman. "Horses are a part of nature. They don't do any harm. In fact, they do good."

City manager Dennis Young said the nature group was worried that the horses' hooves would break down the trails on the sloping banks of the lake and erosion would follow.

Not so, said Ald. Edgelow. Matter was tabled for further discussion at another time.

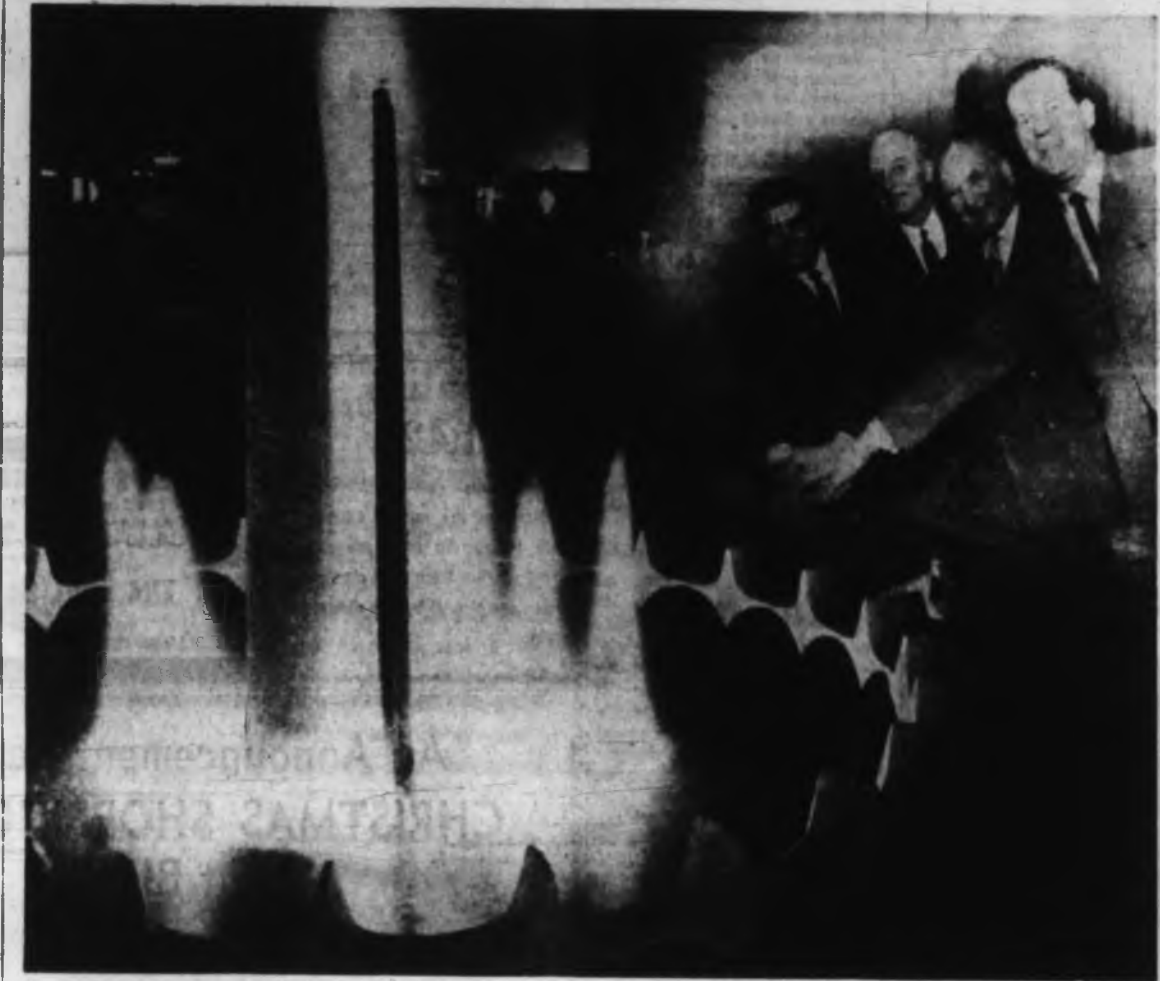

Fight City Hall? Sure, Say Pigeons

Victoria's pigeons give the lie to the old axiom: "You can't fight city hall."

Aldermen admitted Tuesday that they were powerless to do anything about the mess the pigeons are making at the corner of Fort and Douglas Streets, the subject of a complaint by letter.

All the city can do is instruct street cleaners to be a little more thorough in their duties at that intersection.

The letter said that the

Ottawa and Municipalities Stuck with Winter Works

The provincial government is backing out of the whole winter works deal and allowing the federal government and municipalities to carry the full load, members of the city Public Works Committee were told Tuesday.

Fraud Case Hearing Postponed

A hearing of a charge of fraud on the government against a former city car dealer Tuesday was postponed for three weeks.

George K. Hankinson had been charged in October with illegally conferring a benefit on G. E. P. Jones, suspended B.C. purchasing commissioner.

The hearing was delayed until Dec. 21 to await a decision in the case against Mr. Jones. He is charged with accepting a benefit in a case now before the courts.

the municipalities," said Ald. A. W. Toone.

"If a man becomes unemployed he has to stay on welfare three months before he is entitled to a winter works job under provincial rules."

The committee endorsed a strong stand on the issue taken by Union of B.C. Municipalities in which the government was asked not to change the conditions under which aid was granted after it had approved municipal projects and after the municipalities had made up their budgets.

KEEP DOWN WELFARE

A rider to the motion pointed out that municipalities felt that the purpose of winter works aid was not only to remove men from welfare rolls but to keep others from getting on.

"Pressure should be brought on the government in every possible way," said Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow. "There are young people here who just can't get a job. What are they trying to do? Wait until these people do something anti-social and go to jail?"

DIRECT BEARING

The winter works program had a direct bearing on the Victoria Community Welfare Council report on delinquency recently released, Ald. Edgelow said.

Unemployment was one of the direct causes of delinquency and the government proviso requiring that winter works employees have received welfare for three months before the province would share the cost of their work, was contributing.

INTENT OF PROGRAM

The government should live up to the spirit and intent of the program, said Ald. Toone.

Accountants Plan Dinner

Annual dinner dance of the Certified General Accountants of B.C., Victoria chapter, will be held at the Uplands Golf Club starting at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

It should pay the minimum 25 per cent on all winter projects where men are employed and grant 50 per cent where employees are chosen from welfare rolls.

Glowing Objects Fall in Langford

Glowing objects were seen falling from the sky into a marshy field at Langford Tuesday night but officials had no idea what they might have been.

Mrs. Robert Simpson, 2697 Peatt Road, said that about 5:55 p.m. she saw "several pieces, really bright, real white in color, fall into a field next door."

"Several of the smaller pieces bounced after they hit," she said.

Randolph Brewer, 2629 Peatt Road, said:

"HEARD BANG"

"I heard a 'bang', like a car backfiring. I went to the door and saw what looked like a rocket, about 200 feet in the air."

"It was a little red ball, with a red tail on it, coming towards the ground," he said. "I thought somebody had set off a rocket."

Colwood RCMP later said they received no calls about the object, and neither Air Sea Rescue or the RCN knew anything about it.

Wallace Warns:

Stadium Needed For '67 Tattoo

Greater Victoria needs proper stadium facilities to attract major events, B.C.'s centennial committee chairman warned Tuesday.

L. J. Wallace said a giant military tattoo may come to the city in 1967 but only if adequate stadium facilities are provided.

And the chairman pointed out that the onus for providing the facilities is on the Greater Victoria municipalities because the provincial government will not build a stadium.

TIME TO START

Mr. Wallace suggested some consideration may be given to reconstructing Athletic Park but whatever was decided "now is the time to start working for it."

He was confident, however, that the necessary accommodation will be made available here.

He said assurances to this effect were given to national centennial officials last week.

OTHER EVENTS

In addition to the tattoo, which will feature between 800 and 1,000 members of Canada's armed services, there probably will be two or three other events in Victoria during 1966 and 1967 which will require stadium facilities, Mr. Wallace said.

The deputy provincial secretary said at this stage he could not disclose what these events will be.

The plan is to have the national tattoo group "put the show together" in Victoria in May, 1967, before starting a cross-country tour that will include performances in Vancouver's Empire Stadium and other large centres throughout Canada.

HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL

The show promises to eclipse the highly successful military tattoo staged in Vancouver as part of B.C.'s centenary celebrations in 1958.

That one had between 400 and 500 participants and drew nearly 100,000 spectators after a slow start.

Mr. Wallace said the national tattoo is expected to attract at a conservative estimate twice as many people in Vancouver. He said his committee is anxious to add a run of perhaps three days in Victoria before the show goes to Empire Stadium.

TWO SHOWS

He said the large national defence establishments at Esquimalt and Work Point would prove invaluable in mounting of the tattoo.

The 1967 tattoo will be split into two shows—to tour the smaller Canadian centres before it is merged into the single large-scale event.

In each centre militia groups will supplement the main body of servicemen.

IDEA REJECTED

Plans at present call for the tattoo to reach Ottawa by July 1 of Canada's centennial year.

A suggestion that the tattoo could be staged in Beacon Hill Park was rejected by national centennial planners on grounds that there would not be adequate lighting facilities.

Just Looks That Way

Scotch Shrinks But Not Cost

Scotch-drinkers will pay one-quarter of a cent more per ounce under new Liquor Control Board prices approved by the cabinet Tuesday.

Most of the changes were due to introduction of the new 25-ounce bottle in place of the old size of 26 2/3 ounces.

Brands of imported scotch that sold for $5.80 in the larger size now are selling for $5.50 in 25-ounce bottles.

A 12-ounce bottle of the same brand now costs $2.90 instead of the old price of $3.10 for 13 1/3 ounces.

There will be reduction in price for those who drink LCB imported scotch.

A 25-ounce bottle which until yesterday has been selling for $3.05 has now been reduced to $1.75. The price for 12 ounces has been reduced to $2.35 from $2.50.

Similar reductions are offered on two other lines marketed under the LCB brand.

Other reductions of up to 15 cents a bottle apply on one brand of bourbon, one of gin, two of rum, and the price of a half-bottle of Drambuie has been cut to $3.55 from $4.05.

Added to the list for the first time are three brands of Canadian whisky and one new Canadian liqueur.

Dangerous Section Gets Centre Lines

Temporary safety measures have been taken on a section of Trans-Canada Highway north of Victoria where two accidents occurred Saturday.

The highways department has placed 20-mile-an-hour signs on a 3.8-mile section of the highway which is being repaved, and line had not been painted on that portion of the road because the surface was wet from the recent rains.

Five people were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital after a two-car, head-on collision there Saturday, and a woman was shaken up when another car went into a ditch there the same day.

A highways department spokesman said a white centre line had not been painted on that portion of the road because the surface was wet from the recent rains.

Ladies Without Escorts Shouldn't Hum in Halls

If you were a young lady travelling alone circa 1887, many rules of etiquette would be governing your behavior. Following are a few of the dictums religiously held to by the women of that time, included in The White House Cookbook, published by Follett Publishing Company.

The new cookbook has been revised from the 1887 version by Janet Halliday Ervin to cover all the first ladies through to Lady Bird Johnson. A lady should enter a hotel by way of the ladies entrance. A lady will not, of course, enter into conversation with any but friends at a public table. A simple request in the waiter, particularly if it be backed by a slight remuneration, will ensure his meeting her at the dining-room entrance and preceding her to her seat, thus obviating the slight awkwardness of crossing a full dining room without an escort.

Loud and ostentatious dressing is out of place in a hotel dining room. A quiet, unassuming dress of cloth or plain black silk is the most ladylike.

When a lady is without escort, it would be best for her not to take her supper in the dining room late in the evening. She can have a meal sent to her room at a trifling extra cost. She should never hum to herself while going through the halls nor play on the piano nor sing in a hotel parlor unless invited to do so.

If she be naturally a lively and chatty disposition, she must beware how she indulges these innocent propensities, "lest they be misunderstood."

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Please don't tell me you aren't a lawyer. I know you aren't, but you say you want to help people in trouble and I'm in plenty right now.

My wife and I went to an open-air theatre last week and we sat right behind a couple of gabby women. My wife asked them twice if they would please be quiet so we could hear the lines. They said they were there to enjoy themselves and if we didn't like it we could find other seats.

After 20 minutes of listening to those magpies my wife lost her temper and slammed the noisiest one over the head with her pocketbook. The woman let out a scream which of course created a disturbance.

The manager rushed over, took our names and asked us to leave. Yesterday my wife received an order to appear in court. The charge is assault and battery. The woman was neither assaulted nor battered. Must we go to court on these trumped-up charges?—S.L.

Dear S.L.: Since you already know I am not a lawyer I don't have to tell you that. I will tell you, however, that you'd better hire one. What you received was a summons and this means no foolin'.

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell me what to do with a 16-year-old high school girl who wants to go with boys, wear lipstick and spends most of her allowance on Seattle records.

My mother didn't let me wear lipstick or go on a date with a boy until I was 18. I didn't resent my mother's strictness. I accepted it because I felt she knew better than I did. Our daughter does not accept what I say. She thinks she knows everything.

Her grades are excellent and I want them to stay that way. I'm afraid her school work will slip when she starts dating and she'll go crazy like her girl friends. Please say something that will help me keep this child from running wild. Thank you.—B.G.

Dear B.G.: Sorry, I see no evidence that your daughter wants to "run wild."

A 16-year-old girl who makes excellent grades should be allowed to date on Friday and Saturday nights and wear lipstick. If it is not against the rules of the school.

Children reared with too much discipline turn out as poorly as those who had too little. The wise parent finds the happy middle-ground and holds a firm rein with a loving hand.

Brokerage Partner Clears Her Desk

Miss Kathleen M. Knapton, one of the first women in Canada to become a partner in a brokerage business, cleared off the top of her desk at Hagar Investments for the last time on Monday. She was retiring after 41 years in a business which has predominately been a man's world.

Secretary-treasurer of Hagar Investment, Kay Knapton has acted on the board as full director ever since the company was formed.

She first entered the brokerage field as a typist for A. C. Burdick and in 1935 became a partner of Art Christopher and Harold Swayne in the investment firm of Christopher Ltd. She continued as a director when Denis Hagar bought out the Christopher interest and renamed the firm Hagar and Swayne, later Hagar Investments.

Handling tens of thousands of dollars worth of securities was all in a day's work for Miss Knapton who was a non-stop worker and considered one of the most knowledgeable persons in the business.

Miss Knapton, who lives at 1024 Pentrelew Place, has been a resident of Victoria most of her life, having come here from England at the age of three years.

High on the list of things she now has time to do is an extended trip to Europe in the spring. An added encouragement for this was the gift of a matched set of luggage presented to her by the staff on her retirement.

Salvation Army Matson Lodge was the setting for recent Christmas tea and sale put on by Women's Auxiliary. The sum of $802 was raised at the successful affair, which was opened by Mrs. W. Douglas Marshall, president of Rotary Annex.

Auxiliary president, Mrs. A. C. Wurtele, who introduced the special guest, gave a brief resume of the work accomplished by the WA during the 18 months it has been in operation.

Highlight of the bazaar was a stall of miscellaneous articles which were made by the women at Matson Lodge and their friends. Mrs. J. Vellacott and Mrs. C. P. Kerridge were conveners.

Heirloom Locket Worn by Bride

An heirloom locket that had belonged to her great-grandmother was "something old" worn by Margery Ellen Johnston, Saturday evening, when she became the bride of Dennis Keith McCoy.

She wore a gown of white sheer nylon over satin, styled with a lace-trimmed bodice and full hooped skirt. The bodice and skirt were highlighted with sequins. Tiny bows accented the folds of the skirt which cascaded back fullness. A veil misted to her waist from a headpiece of flowers and she carried a cascade bouquet of red and white carnations.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Johnston, 3572 Richmond Avenue, and the late Mr. and Mrs. W. McCoy of Victoria. Mr. Johnston gave his daughter in marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Wells Wed at St. Mary's

St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, was the scene of a pretty wedding last Saturday evening when Miss Valerie Jean Braithwaite became the bride of Mr. Richard Charles Wells.

Canon Hywel Jones performed the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Braithwaite, waite, Goldstream Road, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Wells, Edgeware Road.

The bride was lovely in a gown of white delustrated satin styled with fitted bodice, scoop neckline, lily-point sleeves and belled skirt. A detachable train flowed from the back waistline.

A crystal and pearl tiara held her poufed, waist-length four-tiered veil and she carried a bouquet of golden toned roses, feathered carnations and lily. Mr. Braithwaite gave his daughter in marriage.

Mrs. G. Braithwaite, matron of honor, chose a bell skirted cocktail-length dress of gold delustrated satin, styled with fitted bodice, scoop neckline and kimono sleeves.

Bridesmaids Misses Joan Hicks and Lynn Wells wore dresses styled like the matron of honor's in moss green satin. All had matching pleated pill box headresses with tulle veils and carried bouquets of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums with gold-sprayed lily.

Little Sarah Braithwaite, niece of the bride, was flower girl and looked adorable in a tangerine whisper taffeta dress with short full skirt and short sleeves. She had flowers in her hair and carried a basket of autumn colored chrysanthemums.

Mr. Jack Heanaki was best man and Mr. Don Wells, brother of the groom, and Mr. Ron Wallbank showed guests to the pews.

At the reception at the Tally-Ho Travelodge Mr. Jack Paterson proposed the toast.

Leaving on honeymoon, the new Mrs. Wells wore a green and brown tweed suit with green velvet hat and brown accessories. Her corsage was of yellow rosebuds.

Garden Notes

Look for Scions Now

By M. V. CHEANUT, FRES

One gardening operation which requires some forethought and planning ahead is the grafting of fruit trees. You can't just get the urge in the spring to try your hand at grafting, and go back off a hunk from a neighbor's tree to stick on that ancient tree in your own backyard.

You see, the bits to be grafted on to your tree—called scions—should be selected and cut in early winter, fairly soon after the tree sheds its leaves and goes dormant. But the actual grafting operation isn't performed until early spring. The job isn't too difficult for a novice—I know one amateur who has a tree in his backyard bearing 32 different kinds of apples—but if you want to take a crack at it, the time to select and cut your material is now.

These scions should be chosen with the utmost care if the grafting operation is to be successful. They must be vigorous, healthy, the right size, and stored in such a way as to be in first-class condition when grafting time rolls around next spring.

The bits you need are straight, short-jointed lengths taken from new wood near the tips of the branches. They should be about the thickness of a pencil and six to seven inches long. Cut BOTH ends of your scion, discarding the thin tip at the top and the woody, thicker base portion. Obviously, they should be scoured from trees which bear superbly good fruit.

The tricky part is the safe storage of these scions. They mustn't be allowed to dry out, nor on the other hand may they be permitted to make any growth, but remain in a state of suspended animation until grafting time next spring. If the buds have started to swell, the graft just won't "take."

If you have only a few of these scions to store, probably the simplest method is to tie them into a small bundle and keep them in the vegetable crisper portion of your refrigerator. With greater quantities, bury the bundles of scions in a box of moist sand and store outdoors on the shaded side of a wall or fence.

I don't propose to try to explain the actual grafting operation, for it is difficult to make clear the various methods without pictures and diagrams. It isn't necessary anyhow, for there are books in the libraries devoted to explaining this ancient art, and there is an excellent and well-circulated government pamphlet called The Grafting and Budding of Fruit Trees available free of charge from the Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

While the nurseryman grafts his scions on carefully selected rootstocks to make strong, fruitful trees which will come into bearing at an early age, the home gardener will usually want to attempt this operation on some old tree already growing in his backyard, probably inherited when he bought the place.

The fruit produced by the old tree may be inferior or even worthless, but each successful graft will make a branch which will bear fruit identical with the tree from which the scion was taken.

It must be remembered that all grafting must take place within the family. An apple variety can be grafted on to a crabapple tree, or vice versa, as they are members of the same family, but you couldn't graft a plum branch on an apple tree nor a pear on a plum. Within families, however, some interesting combinations are possible; edible plums could be grown on an ornamental plum tree, or a branch of the Almey Flowering Crab, Canada's Centennial tree, on an ordinary apple or crabapple tree.

ART BUCHWALD Enlightened

Fly Egyptian—and Breathe

When the Egyptians decided to ship an Israeli citizen air freight from Rome a couple of weeks ago, many people were shocked. But a friend of mine saw nothing cruel about the incident at all.

The day after the story broke he called me long distance and said, "Did you see a photo of the trunk they tried to send that fellow in?"

"Yes, it was ghastly, wasn't it?"

"What do you mean, ghastly? Study the picture closely. Doesn't it remind you of anything? Don't you feel you've been there before?"

I studied the picture, but nothing came to mind. "Nope, I can't see it."

"The whole contrivance has been patterned after the three-abreast tourist flights on . . . Airlines. I didn't realize it until I took a flight last week and then it dawned on me where the Egyptians got the idea. Of course the trunk is much more comfortable than the seat of the airline, but that's because the Egyptians take care of their people."

I looked at the picture again. "There is a place to put your head and feet in the trunk," I said, "which is more than you can say for . . . Airlines."

"Exactly. And there are tiny air holes drilled in the side so the person can breathe."

"You don't get that in tourist class," I had to admit.

"The Egyptians also added another refinement. They administered a drug to the passenger before they sent him off."

"Leave it to the Egyptians to improve air travel."

"You can say that again. Many times just before taking off I've asked the stewardess to shoot something into my arm, but she's always refused."

"Is it against regulations?"

"No, but if they give a shot to one passenger, they have to give it to all the passengers, and they claim they lose money on the route as it is."

"I guess the Egyptians don't care if they make money on their flights or not."

"Just as long as they get you there," he said. "But listen, this is what I called you about. I have a friend in the luggage business and I thought we could make up some trunks like the one in the photo for people who can't afford to fly first class but can't stand to sit three abreast in tourist."

"That's a great idea, but would it sell?"

"We won't sell them," we'll rent them."

"But don't the Egyptians have a patent on the trunk?"

"We'll pay them a royalty and let them use our trunks free of charge in case they want to send anybody else to Cairo."

"It's a very fair offer. What about the drug?"

"Haven't you ever heard of vending machines?" he said.

"You've thought of everything," I had to admit.

"From now on there will be three types of travel on a plane—First Class, Tourist Class, and 'Egyptian Class.'"

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — You can't lose on horror pictures. William Castle, has made $10,000,000 from his eight spine tinglers over the past seven years. "It's a fortune," admitted Bill when I lunched with him between takes of his latest frightener, I Saw What You Did, starring Joan Crawford and John Ireland, and introducing two young ladies, Ann Garrett and Sarah Lane.

"It all started in 1957 with Macabre, said William. "It cost $130,000 and made a million. My next, House on Haunted Hill, cost $150,000 and made $4,000,000. I owned 75 per cent of this picture, which started Vincent Price into a non-stop horror routine." The Tinger came next, also with Price. "That cost a quarter of a million dollars, and made three million," said the happy producer. He followed up with 13 Ghosts, budgeted at $260,000. The profit was $3,500,000.

After this expression of public confidence, nothing could stop our man William. He plunged into Homicidal, with a tab of $237,000, and nearly $4,000,000 on the credit side. "By this time I was more sure of my ground and I decided to use stars. I signed Joan Crawford for Straight Jacket. She worked strictly on a percentage and made about $200,000. This one cost me $800,000, and it will gross about $5,000,000."

It also proved to Joan that a whole new world of money was out there, just waiting to be plucked. And not long after she co-starred with Bette Davis in Whatever Happened to Baby Jane, from which Bette came out nearly $500,000 richer, while Joan took less salary and a larger percentage for a present total of $750,000.

So of course it was only natural that Joan and Bette, who are not exactly mad about each other, agreed to repeat the formula. But Joan took ill and Olivia de Havilland, who knew all about violence and terror from her Lady in a Cage fortune-maker with Ann Sothern, blithely stepped into Joan-be-nimble's shoes.

Having learned what horror pictures could do for falling stars, Castle decided to bring back Barbara Stanwyck and for added screaming, teamed her with ex-husband Robert Taylor. Their Nightwalkers cost $1,000,000. It is too early to tell how much it will ring up at the box office; the film has not yet been released. But there is no reason to believe it will not do as well as all of Castle's other thriller-dillers.

"I tried to go straight one time," the director reminisced. "I made a comedy called Zotz. I thought I'd change my pace. Walt Disney called me and said, 'This is my kind of picture next yours. I'd like to buy it from you for Fred MacMurray.' It lost money and I wired Walt, 'I wish you'd bought it.'"

"Why do people enjoy horror pictures?" I asked William. He had an answer. "It's like a ride on a roller coaster—that's what the master, Alfred Hitchcock said, and I agree with him. People want to be shocked; it's a release. It stimulates the glands." And for the directors and stars who perpetrate the crimes, it stimulates the bank account.

George Nader is back in Hollywood after a long spell of picture-making abroad. "I may be going back," said the handsome actor, "there's a picture deal cooking for me in Hamburg, Germany." . . . Eileen Kinsella, Junior, dating the beautiful and chic Dee "Slim" Hawkins, who is now embarking on a movie career.

News in brief . . . Gregory Peck and Sophia Loren will be teamed in Cypher for Stanley Donen, in London, in the Spring. . . . Jack Warner's My Fair Lady must, and I am sure it will, recuperate its cost within seven years. After that the story reverts to the George Bernard Shaw estate. . . . As for the Oscarette, Julie Andrews seems to be gaining ground in Hollywood conversations, for Mary Poppins, unless the clean sweep for My Fair Lady, sweeps Audrey Hepburn to the acceptance dais. . . . Rock Hudson is very pleased with his Strange Bedfellows romp with Glynis Lynne and Gig Young. And he should be. They all come off very well, with Glynis giving her best performance in any picture of hers that I have seen.

It's Too Late to Save

Wails
STAN DELAPLANE

"Save $5 every week." That is what it says over the teller's window at the bank where I keep my pitiful savings.

The jug president is advising me to keep a Christmas fund. "Deposit as little as $5 a week," etc.

The president holds out the prospect of a Merry Yule. A pouchful of jingling money, a walletful of folding bread.

Why does my banker tell me NOW? Too late, too late. Last January was the time for the first $5 deposit.

It is very difficult to get a loan from your banker at Christmas. Bankers are stern people. Keeping the country economically sound is a headache, I imagine.

When I get a loan from the banker, he always sends for my chart.

It shows my financial temperature. It shows if I paid on time. Or if I stiffed the payment a month. It is a complete record of my triumphs and my understandable, "human weaknesses."

Bankers don't care much for weaknesses. Maybe not much for humans. Humans like me anyway.

They like humans who put five dimes in the old Xmas deposit fund each Monday morn.

I am TOO human. That is my major weakness.

"How long would you want the money for?" asked the banker, jingling the solid gold suggests on his solid gold watch chain.

"Not long, Banker. Just long enough to spend it."

The banker smiled and the paper in his hand crackled with frost.

"That is not exactly the idea," he said. "The idea is when will you pay it back. How long you use our money," said the banker, "is a matter of concern to the depositors."

"What is your best offer, Banker?" I asked humbly.

"Why," said the banker, "we have a nice little 30-day offer. Or we have a dandy 90-day thing."

"I was thinking more in terms of a year, Banker."

"A year!" cried the banker. "You should have started a Christmas savings fund last January."

Indeed I should have. But last January, how far away Christmas seemed then.

The tree was shedding. The floor was covered with shiny fragments of the ornaments that fell to Christmas destruction.

I think there was a sign over the teller's window—or maybe it was one of those ads in a bus.

"Why not start a Christmas savings account now? Deposit as little as . . ."

But I could not see that it was directed at me.

I figured I could start in June, or July.

"The money market is not what it was," said the banker nipping the end off a dollar cigar. "You've seen the financial pages."

"Everybody seems to be splitting a melon, Banker. So I thought you could split one with me."

The banker murmured a few things about "inflationary trends" and "higher discount rates." He looked over my firm sheet and let me sign some papers.

"And a Merry Christmas to you, Banker," I said.

"In ninety days," said the banker. And the frost in his smile froze the calendar.

Flora Preferred to Fauna

Zoo Not Planned For Beacon Hill

City council will be asked to consider establishment of a children's zoo—but not in Beacon Hill Park where the main emphasis will be on flora not fauna.

A letter from the city manager who was asked to look into the matter and report to parks committee, which met Tuesday, said that if a zoo were located in the park consideration would have to be given to additional parking area, paths, roads and walk surfaces.

"If we keep on developing further in Beacon Hill we are going to do away entirely with the natural atmosphere which people so love," said Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow.

He had been hoping for the day when cars would be kept out of the park entirely rather than encouraging them, by means of a zoo and other attractions, to come in.

"This is a park to be walked in. There are too many cars there already. It's getting so that it's dangerous to cross the road. Let's keep them out."

Ald. Millard Mooney did not agree.

EVERY OTHER CITY
"I'll wager that a farm-type animal enclosure would be the most popular place in Beacon Hill park he said. "Every other city of any size in Canada has one."

Commenting on the fact that parks administrator Herbert Warren had said that faunas born each year to does not in the park's animal enclosure are given to the provincial game department for disposal. Ald. Edgelow said: "Why Millard they're killing the faunas now. There's no room for any more animals."

"Now Geoff, you're playing on the old heartstrings again," was Ald. Mooney's retort.

The Elk-Beaver lake park area was suggested by Mayor R. B. Wilson as a possible site for a zoo.

Chamber Backs Hockey for City

Professional hockey is an asset to Victoria and should be supported so that the city doesn't lose it, tourist leaders here agreed Monday.

At the meeting of the tourist industry group of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, it was pointed out that the Victoria Maple Leafs mean advertising for this area when they travel.

Pat Frumento, a member of the committee, said hockey is a winter attraction and Victoria must make sure that it stays.

BEAUTIFUL CITY
Munich has set up floodlit fountains and park benches in quiet parts of the bustling city in a beautification campaign.

Alan Maclean, visitors' bureau commissioner, said hockey is a part of a way of life in the East and on the Prairies and it is important that it can be offered to those interested in moving here or coming here for the winter.

At the same meeting the group set April 12-19 for the Spring Flower Festival.

The group also decided to send a committee to city hall

Last year the $300 for the flower girls' wages was paid by the Chamber of Commerce. Gowns for the girls were an added expense.

Ex-Dictator On Way To Paraguay

MADRID (AP) — Spanish police confirmed today that former dictator Juan Peron of Argentina had ended his exile in Spain and left for Paraguay on the first stage of a return to the homeland from which he was driven in 1955.

Peron left late Tuesday night aboard an Iberian airliner for Montevideo, Uruguay, police said. He was expected to board a connecting plane for Asuncion, the Paraguayan capital, to take up residence there until he feels the time is ripe for him to return to Buenos Aires.

Earlier unconfirmed reports that he was aboard the Spanish airliner sent Argentine officials into hurried conference in Buenos Aires. Police and other security agencies in the Argentine capital were put on the alert.

Wurtele Willing To Report But Not Predict

Reeve A. C. Wurtele is willing to give Esquimalt voters a recap of progress made by the municipality in 1964 but he doesn't intend to let them know what will happen in 1965.

The Association of Women Electors had asked him to speak on both topics during an A.W.E. sponsored all-candidates' meeting in the Fraser Street hall, at 8 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 10.

When the request came before Esquimalt council this week, Reeve Wurtele agreed to speak on past achievements but added: "I have a number of ideas for the municipality but I don't want every Tom, Dick and Harry knowing them."

OTHER MEETINGS — Elsewhere on the Greater Victoria Dec. 12 municipal election scene, the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a Victoria council all-candidates' meeting in Sir James Douglas School at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 9.

The Saanich Voters' Association will sponsor a Saanich candidates' meeting in Mount View High School at 8 p.m. Dec. 8, and the Elk Lake Ratepayers' Association will hold a similar meeting in Royal Oak Junior High School at 8 p.m. Dec. 9.

Reeve Allan Cox will report on the year's work in Oak Bay at an all-candidates' meeting in the municipal hall at 8 p.m. Dec. 9, sponsored by the Oak Bay Ratepayers' Association and the Association of Women Electors.

Gagliardi:

Glamour Sells Liquor

VANCOUVER (CP) — Highway minister Gagliardi, opening safe-driving week in the province, lashed out at brewers and distillers for what he termed irresponsible liquor advertising.

The minister launched safe-driving week in a television interview Monday night. Elaborating on his remarks in an interview Tuesday he said:

"Why have we had such a great rash of accidents this last winter? Well, what else can we expect when we glamorize liquor."

"We have made it so easy for the brewing companies to enter the field of sports, a highly glamorized field and the centre of much here worship."

The minister said he had seen advertisements showing a picture of a fine athlete and a bottle of whisky. Such advertising was "irresponsible. It created a relationship in the mind of the young."

"If we want to be really interested in highway safety we have got to cut being so hypocritical," said the minister.

Mr. Gagliardi said he was not advocating controls of liquor advertising — "I'm not saying anything about that at present."

"But responsible people should act in a responsible manner."

President Offers

L(1)beral Viewpoint

By GARY OAKES

From a L(1)beral viewpoint, Conservatives are essentially negative—even the P(1)rogressive ones.

At least this is one of the messages brought to Victoria Tuesday night by Vancouverite John Nichol, president of the Liberal Federation of Canada.

"Liberals," Mr. Nichol explained, "are as loyal to the past as any Conservatives but we are far more willing to accept changes and new ideas than they are."

"SMALL AND LARGE" — Speaking to the annual meeting of the Oak Bay Liberal Association, the Vancouver born businessman said most conservatives are basically liberal in philosophy.

Later Mr. Nichol explained he was referring to both small and large "l" liberals and small and large "c" conservatives.

He said history will show that Prime Minister Pearson's "compassion, patience, understanding and wisdom are the great things that Canada needs at this time."

Mr. Nichol suggested "we are over the hill" as far as the problems facing Confederation are concerned.

GETTING ALONG — He felt that Quebec's federal cabinet ministers now are getting along with the Lesage government and indicated there is more harmony between Saskatchewan Liberals and the federal party.

Reviewing his party's apparent strength across the country Mr. Nichol predicted the Liberals would win an increased mandate if an election were held next year.

Regarding the judicial inquiry into reports of bribery and coercion by ministerial assistants, Mr. Nichol said later it "should go as far as possible to find out if there is any wrong-doing."

NEW OFFICERS — In other business at the meeting, Mrs. Margaret McClung was elected president; Jack Mearns, vice-president; Mrs. Janet Kenny, secretary, and Frank Waring, treasurer.

New directors are: Mrs. Peg Wilmer, Gold Films Delayed

Two films made by photographer-lecturer Wilmer Gold of Toronto will be shown in Victoria in January or February.

Earlier reports said the films would be seen in the Langham Court Theatre Friday and Saturday of this week, but the theatre is not available then.

The films are Land of the Pharaohs, showing a trip along the Nile, and Adventure on Vancouver Island's West Coast, showing logging and Indian history.

Church Fire Blocked

SANTIAGO (AP) — Chilean army troops and national police rushed to the village of San Juan de los Costa Tuesday to keep 300 Araucanian Indians from burning a new Roman Catholic church.

The Indians resisted plans to tear down the old church because they considered it miraculous, government reports said.

PORT ALBERNI — A solution may be near to the bus transportation dispute which has caused 12 Arrowsmith Heights parents to keep 28 children out of school.

Alberni district school board chairman James Macfie announced Tuesday the Tyee Bus Co. has agreed to run two buses daily in the area just east of the city boundary at a charge of $5 a day.

Norman McKenzie, who with Murvill Rogers has acted as spokesman for the parents, told the Colonist last night this proposal "sounds a little more reasonable."

WALK LIMIT — Asked if the parents would accept it, he replied, "I think so."

The parents originally sought a bus because of the distance of their homes from the three schools involved. The school board refused twice, saying the most distant home is 1½ miles and the B.C. Public Schools Act sets a walk limit of 2½ miles.

Later, the reported appearance of two naked men before two of the children on wood-fringed Burde Street bolstered the parents' campaign.

FURTHER MEETING — Provincial education department officials last week promised to help the parents if possible and the school board Monday said it will seek another meeting with the parents.

Mr. Macfie said Tuesday that district NDP MLA John Squire will be asked to attend the meeting. Its date has not been set.

He said a letter to the board from Dr. W. A. Plenderleith, assistant superintendent of B.C. schools, made it clear any decision to provide a bus is one which can only be made by the board, because of the walk limit.

BACK TO SCHOOL — But Dr. Plenderleith also wrote that his department's chief concern is to make it possible to get the children back to school.

He wrote that the department would do everything possible within the schools act to resolve the situation, and suggested a prefabricated school in Arrowsmith Heights.

Dr. Plenderleith said he was prepared to recommend that the department authorize funds if the board should ask money for the prefab school.

Forfeits Interest in Trust

Profumo Pockets $1,800,000

LONDON (AP) — Former British war minister John Profumo pockets $600,000 ($1,800,000) under an agreement announced in the High Court Tuesday.

His brother and two sisters get similar sums. In return, they forfeit life interests in $4,000,000 trusts set up by their father, the late Baron Albert Profumo.

Their application to the court to vary the terms of the trusts was intended mainly to reduce the impact of heavy British death duties.

ESCAPE DUTY — They now will be able to make over capital sums to children and other persons and these amounts will escape death duty provided the donor survives five years.

Profumo, 49, resigned as war minister last year after admitting he lied to Parliament to cover a liaison with call girl Christine Keeler.

Halloween Hits Trees

Halloween damage to city trees amounted to $975, members of city parks committee were told Tuesday—and some of the culprits were adults.

"I don't know what we can do to control this situation," said Ald. A. W. Tonne, "seriously citizens should be public spirited enough to report to police when they are such damage being done."

Worst in Memory

Storm Rips Maritimes

HALIFAX (CP)—A fierce storm that lashed the Maritimes Tuesday threatened tragedy as a wild Atlantic battered a grounded freighter and concealed a powerless lobster boat.

Help was on the way Tuesday night to the 20 men aboard the two vessels, but one of the worst storms in living memory was slowing rescue ships. One rescue ship was halted by 50-mile an hour winds and had to return to port.

An RCMP officer at Sherbrooke, N.S., asked if help could reach the grounded Liberian freighter Fury with 18 men aboard, said: "Fishermen here say it's the worst storm they've ever seen."

AGROUND

The Fury was aground and believed in danger of breaking up on Wedge Island, about 50 miles east of here.

The 38-foot lobster vessel Jean and Judy was drifting helplessly off the southern tip of Nova Scotia. An RCAF Dakota reported 87 miles-an-hour winds in the area.

Waves as high as 50 feet were reported all along the province's Atlantic coast.

DAMAGE MOUNTS

Damage was mounting. Several pleasure craft were rammed ashore near Halifax. Small fishing vessels were battered all along the coast. Heavy damage was expected to lobster gear along the Nova Scotia's south shore and in the Bay of Fundy where the season has just opened.

Up to 20 inches of snow fell in parts of the Maritimes, with Nova Scotia receiving heavy rain. Trees were uprooted and basements flooded in the Halifax area.

Traffic was snarled, bus service suspended and schools closed when a blizzard struck New Brunswick.

Satchmo Barred In South Africa

The South African government has refused to let Louis Armstrong enter South Africa for a tour next year, even though he had promised to play only to segregated audiences.

U.S. Leads In Race To Mars

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Mars-bound Mariner IV raced through space Tuesday well ahead of a crippled Soviet rocket and U.S. scientists pondered just when to trigger an extra burst of speed later in the 7½-month flight.

Mariner IV, launched Saturday with cameras designed to take the best pictures yet of the planet's mysterious surface, was 685,875 miles from earth at midnight Pacific time, streaking at 7,193 miles an hour.

The Soviet shot, Zond II, started its flight Monday from an orbiting spacecraft.

All systems aboard Mariner IV were operating normally but the Russians reported their power supply was about 50 per cent impaired.

Paris All White

PARIS (Reuters)—Snow fell in Paris Tuesday for the first time this winter. By dawn it lay four inches deep in places.

'Do it Yourself' Kit

Liquor 'Still' Was Mobile

NANAIMO (Special)—Dusan Pozar, 345 Pridoux Street, who operated a "do it yourself" moonshine kit only half a block from the Nanaimo RCMP office, was fined $250 in magistrate's court Tuesday for illegal possession of a still.

Police told Magistrate Eric Finch they seized a still, a 50-gallon barrel of mash and several bottles of grappa.

They said the still could be moved from place to place so different moonshiners could make their own booze from their own supply of mash.

Police said the illicit manufacture of moonshine in "big business" in Nanaimo. Pozar's kind of distilled alcohol could cause blindness if improperly made.

Beatle shows off his Tonsils

Ringo's Loss Nobody's Gain

LONDON (Reuters)—Beatles drummer Ringo Starr has dashed fans' hopes of getting his tonsils as a souvenir when he has them removed.

The 24-year-old entertainer told reporters "No one is getting them, believe me." The operation, scheduled for today, is not expected to affect his singing or the group's "Liverpool sound."

Meanwhile, the Beatles Tuesday shot back to the top of the British hit parade just three days after their new record, I Feel Fine, was released.

Legacy of a Massacre

Typhoid Hits Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Typhoid has broken out in the sweltering former rebel capital of Stanleyville where hundreds of bodies still lie in streets, offices, homes and abandoned cars, travellers reported Tuesday.

The new disaster at Stanleyville came as military sources there disclosed a mercenary column aided by Congolese troops had liberated the town of Dindila 300 miles north of Stanleyville and rescued more than 150 white hostages. The hostages were flown to Leopoldville. No one has counted the dead in Stanleyville and it is probable the exact toll never will be known.

Rebel prisoners were being used to dispose of bodies because mercenaries and government troops will not touch them, travellers said.

Hospitals are empty in Stanleyville because nurses have vanished.

Some United Nations World Health Organization Negro doctors from Haiti refused to remain there because they feared mercenaries would mistake them for rebels.

Informed sources said between 50 to 750 more whites remained in rebel territory and that the rescue operation would require several weeks.

Meanwhile, a rebel statement said "Simbas" (lions) have recovered Stanleyville radio and claimed credit for the crash of a Belgian airplane Sunday. They said the plane was shot down by the Simbas' gunfire.

These reports are confirmed by Leopoldville. The government concedes its forces hold only the airport at Stanleyville. In Kharoum the new Sudanese regime of Prime Minister Sir el Khatim el Khalifa is weighing a rebel demand for arms, ammunition, volunteers and supplies for the rebel cause.

At the United Nations the African group of 33 countries asked Secretary-General Thant to make representations to Belgium and the United States that all foreign troops and mercenaries be pulled out of The Congo.

Frenchman Held as Spy

Embassy Worker In Thai Roundup

BANGKOK (Reuters)—Thai Premier Field Marshal Thanom Kittakachorn said Tuesday three people, including a foreigner working with an embassy here, have been arrested for espionage.

The premier denied that any army officers have been rounded up for plotting a coup. Police sources said the foreigner is a Frenchman.

President Johnson's directive to General Taylor came during a major 2½-hour review of U.S. strategy and policy in Viet Nam. The president's highest military, diplomatic and intelligence advisers took part.

Nowhere in a White House report of the meeting was there any indication of administration plans to expand the war against the Viet Cong guerrillas.

The White House statement said the president had reaffirmed the basic U.S. policy of "providing all possible and useful assistance to the South Vietnamese people and government in their struggle to defeat the externally-supported insurgency and aggression being conducted against them."

This policy also still includes a determination to try to defeat aggression in Southeast Asia without a big war. Thus any major widening of the Vietnamese conflict, such as invading North Viet Nam or bombing its capital of Hanoi, appeared to be ruled out because of the possibility of massive retaliation.

Liu Ning-yi, Chinese representative in the just-closed international conference on Viet Nam, said:

"The Chinese people would never sit idly by when aggression was being committed against their brotherly neighbor. They would resolutely unite with and fight alongside the fraternal Vietnamese people."

Viet Nam Report Spurs LBJ

NEW LOOK URGENT

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson has ordered urgent consultations with the Saigon government toward improving "in all its aspects" the increasingly grim situation in beleaguered South Viet Nam.

Meanwhile Cambodian frontier forces have joined the Communist Viet Cong again in attacks on South Vietnamese troops, the South Vietnamese defence ministry charged Tuesday.

At the same time China, aware that President Johnson was discussing war policy with U.S. Ambassador Maxwell Taylor and key advisers in Washington, warned it would fight in the event of "U.S. imperialist aggression" against North Viet Nam.

President Johnson's directive to General Taylor came during a major 2½-hour review of U.S. strategy and policy in Viet Nam. The president's highest military, diplomatic and intelligence advisers took part.

The White House statement said the president had reaffirmed the basic U.S. policy of "providing all possible and useful assistance to the South Vietnamese people and government in their struggle to defeat the externally-supported insurgency and aggression being conducted against them."

Paul VI Rises Before Dawn For Longest Papal Voyage

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI set out today on his trip to India, starting his longest papal voyage. He left the Vatican by automobile for Rome's airport.

The 61-year-old ruler of the Roman Catholic Church rose before dawn to begin his unprecedented four-day visit to largely Hindu India.

Two UN Giants Agree To Put Off Fund Fight

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The Soviet Union and the United States pulled back from the brink of a showdown Tuesday, agreeing to put off for at least a month the East-West confrontation over UN peace-keeping finances.

The agreement came just minutes before the opening of the General Assembly's 19th session, averting a U.S. move to try to take away Soviet voting rights because of non-payment of peace-keeping assessments which Russia says were illegally approved.

The compromise was worked out in consultations with Secretary-General U Thant and a handful of other delegates.

It provided that no formal votes will be taken during the assembly's general debate, expected to last at least until Christmas. With no formal voting, the question of whether or not Russia can vote will not arise.

Thant announced the agreement in a terse statement at the opening of the assembly. The assembly then proceeded to elect by acclamation a new chairman, Alex Quaison-Sackey of Ghana.

LITTLE CHANCE

However, authoritative sources said that the U.S. would have had little chance of enlisting the necessary two-thirds majority in the assembly to strip the Russians of their vote.

Negotiations were to resume today between Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk.

Thant's announcement of the big two compromise climaxed a dispute that has been building up slowly for years. The crowd filling the big blue and gold assembly chamber gave an audible murmur of relief as the first decision was taken with no vote required.

FUTURE TALKS

There was a feeling among some diplomats that the compromise provided a good augury for future talks on a basic settlement.

"We have certainly bought time today," Canada's External Affairs Minister Paul Martin said. He hoped progress could be made while "all the parties concerned" were in New York for the assembly.

Martin met with Thant late in the day and afterwards paid tribute to the secretary-general for his part in achieving the agreement.

Dionne Quint Charged With Assault

MONTREAL (CP)—Mrs. Florine Dionne, Marie of the famous Dionne quintuplets, was charged Monday in Montreal municipal court with common assault and was remanded to Dec. 7.

The charge says the assault was committed "on the person of another female," understood to be a baby-sitter.

Mrs. Dionne has two children. She is one of the four surviving quintuplets.

Flag Vote Hopes Fade in Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—Hopes for speedy Commons approval of an emblem with a single red maple leaf as Canada's national flag dimmed Tuesday when Speaker Alan Macnaughton ruled to permit debate on a Conservative amendment calling for a flag plebiscite.

Mr. Macnaughton rejected government arguments and decided it is "fair and equitable" that the amendment for a plebiscite at the next general election be debated.

Prime Minister Pearson accepted the ruling but asked that debate be confined only to the question of a plebiscite.

Mr. Macnaughton said in view of the long debate so far this session on the question of a national flag plebiscite should be to the point.

for a ruling as J. A. McEwen (PC-Elgin) led off the resumed debate and quoted at length from letters and editorials favoring retention of the Red Ensign as the national flag.

Gilles Giguere (Credit-Lapointe) called for a ruling to restrict Mr. McEwen's remarks to the plebiscite.

HARD TO DECIDE

Mr. Macnaughton cautioned Mr. McEwen, but said questions of relevancy were not easy to decide and a wrong decision might deprive a member of his right to speak.

The Speaker's ruling means each member may speak at least once on the amendment and again on the single-leaf design recommended by the Commons' all-party flag committee. There was no indication whether further amendments

AT THE 19th

With Harry Young

The flurries of snow that fell over the weekend only partially stopped golf in Victoria, and most of the scheduled events were carried through.

An exception was at Colwood, where sufficient snow lay on the greens and fairways to put the course out of commission on Saturday and Sunday.

As a result the final of the Bryant Cup was postponed for a week.

Better luck attended the district button matches played at Uplands. In both the open and junior events the challenges were held off.

Bill Wakeham and Noel Pumfrey of Gorge Vale combined well to beat Royal Colwood's team of Bill Court and Joe Evans by 2 and 1, and they are now in line to meet George Bigelow and Ron MacLeod of Victoria.

This match will not be played until Dec. 30, as this Sunday the Gorge players are taking part in the club's annual turkey shoot, and the following Sunday is reserved for the final round of the district monthly medal contest.

In the junior buttons, Bob Zabel and Marty Smith of Uplands showed their victory over Ricky Kent and Urban Allan of Royal Colwood the previous week was no fluke. They beat Gorge Vale's Rick Bath and Wally Doan by 3 and 2.

Although Zabel and Smith are comparative newcomers to the local competitive golf scene, Uplands club pro, John Wren says they are two keen youngsters with sound potential for improvement.

The entry form for the Christmas Tree competition will appear in The Daily Colonist Sunday, Dec. 6. The competition this year is at Royal Colwood, on Saturday, Dec. 26.

The entry fee of $5 includes green fees and prize fund contribution.

Woodward's Stores co-operating with The Daily Colonist will have a gift for every man and woman competitor, while the trophies and catering, including a roast beef lunch, are provided by The Daily Colonist.

The number of competitors will be limited to the available starting times, and those intending to take part should mail in their entries as soon after next Sunday as possible.

The chief executive officers of the Royal Colwood Golf Club were re-elected at the annual meeting held last week. Don Ross takes on another spell as president with John F. Parker as vice-president. Derek Rhys-Jones will be club captain for a second period.

The only newcomer to the board of directors is H. Ronnie Maynes. He was elected along with Ross, Parker and Dr. Gordon Clay who were standing for re-election.

Annual presentation of prizes was held in the Victoria clubhouse with president Bill Munro in the chair. The president had the extra pleasure of handing over the club championship trophy to his nephew Doug Munro. It was the first time the young Munro had won the title, which for some time has been pretty well monopolized by George Bigelow and Bill MacCall. Members were piped into dinner by Ronnie Scott-McGowan.

Greens convenor Dick Clay is wasting no time in getting the Victoria Golf Club in shape for the 1967 Commonwealth Matches. Two new tees — at the 11th and 16th have been built and turfed and are expected to be in play some time next year. Preparations are also being made to have the 18th hole lengthened with a new back tee.

The changes being made will increase the length of the Victoria back nine by about 130 yards, to 8,340 yards, and will make it one of the toughest par 36 in the district.

Royal Colwood took possession of the senior district buttons last week when Jim Dalziel and Roy Johnson eked out a last hole win over the holders, Pete McIntyre and John Sturdy of Victoria. The match was played at Uplands. Next challengers at Victoria are Chris Archer and Jack Clark of Gorge Vale.

Mahovlich Skates With Leafs Again

TORONTO (CP)—Frank Mahovlich practised with his Toronto Maple Leafs teammates Tuesday for the first time since he was admitted to hospital Nov. 12 suffering from an undisclosed ailment.

However, the mystery surrounding Mahovlich's illness became no clearer as the left-wing star for the National Hockey League team refused to talk about why he was in the hospital.

FEELS FINE

"I feel fine," he told reporters. "I'll be back tomorrow and I'll work out a little more each day till I'm ready to play."

His wife Marie and the team's assistant general manager escorted Mahovlich back to the Toronto General Hospital immediately after the game.

One of Mahovlich's doctors apologetically said what was perhaps the most rampant rumor.

Asked if the big M was being treated for cancer, Dr. Tate McPhedran said, "That's simply not true."

It was learned however, that Tuesday was not Mahovlich's first outing from the hospital since Nov. 12.

He skated at a suburban Toronto rink with his wife last week while Leafs were on an extended road trip.

Observers at the practice session Tuesday said Mahovlich was skating and shooting as well as ever. He skated with the team during the entire 45-minute drill.

Mahovlich told reporters:

"If you want any information on my condition you will have to talk to Dr. (Hugh) Smythe."

Mahovlich said he didn't know when he would be able to return to the Leafs full-time, but added his physicians will let him out of hospital to practice.

Dr. Smythe said earlier he would not discuss the nature of Mahovlich's illness.

Mahovlich entered hospital for a checkup after complaining of fatigue.

Russian, Czech Hockey Tours

Good Test for Canada's Team

MELVILLE, Sask. (CP)—The Russian national hockey team, winners in the 1964 Olympics, will play an eight-game exhibition series in Canada, opening in Montreal, Dec. 11.

Gordon Jukes of Melville, Sask., Canadian Amateur Hockey Association secretary-manager, announced Tuesday the Russian team will meet an augmented Montreal Junior Canadiens squad.

The Russians then will meet Canada's national team in Toronto Sunday, Dec. 13.

Other games scheduled are: Dec. 15, Fort William, lakehead senior all-stars;

Dec. 17 and 20, Winnipeg, Canada Nationals;

Dec. 18, Saskatoon, Saskatoon Quakers;

Dec. 21, Edmonton, Edmonton Junior Oil Kings, and

Dec. 23, Trail, Western International League all-stars.

Following their Canadian tour, Russia's No. 1 hockey club will leave for Colorado Springs where they will compete with Canadian and Czechoslovak national teams for the Walter Brown Memorial Trophy. The competition will feature six games in which the teams will meet each other twice.

Jukes said the Russian tour

of Canada, plus four games in Canada by the Czechoslovak national team in January, and the international tournament in Colorado Springs would provide Canadians with a preview of the annual world tournament in Tampere, Finland, in March 1968.

"Altogether the tours and the tournament will give the Canadian team an opportunity to play the Russians five times and the Czechoslovak team four times," he said. "These, plus the two games the Czechs and Russians will play, should give a good indication of the competition in Finland next spring."

The Russian team touring Canada will have 25 players, coaches, managers and officials in the party. Jukes said that revenue from the tour will be used to help finance the Canadian national team.

The 1965 Canadian team is a continuation of the national program started in 1953 under Rev. David Bauer. It is made up of some 22 university students, many of whom saw action in the 1964 Olympics, with the balance coming from Winnipeg Maroons, 1964 Allan Cup champions.

Lions Pay Grey Cup Penalty —Late in Football Recruiting

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dave Skrien, coach of the Grey Cup champion B.C. Lions, has got troubles—recruiting troubles. "I don't know what to do or where to go," he said in an interview Tuesday.

"We were late in starting with our plans (for 1965) ... never been this late before."

He was referring to the fact that lateness in getting started on plans for the 1965 season of the Lions was due to their 34-24 victory over Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the Grey Cup final in Toronto last Saturday.

ALWAYS LATE

Grey Cup winners are always late in getting started on plans for the following year. Usually they have to be wined and dined before they can get going with plans for next year.

But there will be no public reception here for Lions, much to the disappointment of fans who wished to gladhand the Canadian football kings.

IN NASSAU

For one thing 11 of the Lions aren't even here. Tom Brown, Steve Carter, Lonnie Dennis, Dick Fouts, Paul Seale, Greg Findlay and Steve Shaffer are enjoying the Nassau sunshine.

Ken Sugarman went home to Spokane. Norm Fieldgate is in Regina. Ran Morris is in Tulsa, and Emery Barnes is in New York.

Sometime before Skrien and his assistants, Jim Champion and Frank Johnston go recruiting, they should know the future.

Good for Business

VANCOUVER (CP)—Possessing the Grey Cup has produced results described as "unbelievable" by the office staff of the British Columbia Lions.

Vida Scott, Lions' office director since the club was formed 11 years ago, said fans began seeking season passes for 1965 early Monday morning.

"It was unbelievable," she said.

"I don't know where all the people came from and those phone calls—we couldn't count the number. ... Those who phoned wanted to know when they could come in and pick up season tickets for next year."

"Those who came in wanted to buy them here and now."

Chase River

100 Sign
Lumber
Store
Protest

NANAIMO—A petition protesting a proposed retail lumber supermarket in the Chase River area and signed by more than 100 residents was presented to regional planning inspector Neil Hutchins at an appeal hearing Tuesday.

The hearing, third in the case, was ordered by Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell. Mr. Hutchins said he would relay the information submitted at the hearing to Mr. Campbell, who will hand down a decision.

Realtor Dr. Mladen Zorkin, acting for Mayo Lumber Co., applied in June for rezoning of the property to commercial from residential to allow construction of the supermarket. Eight acres adjacent to the Island Highway are involved.

ERROR IN LISTING

The application was rejected.

In October Dr. Zorkin and Mayo officials asked Mr. Campbell for an appeal hearing. It was granted but advertisements listed the proposed zoning change as to industrial instead of commercial.

An application to postpone the hearing because of the error was denied and the appeal was heard Nov. 3. Mr. Campbell later ordered another hearing with the change in wording noted.

UNDERDEVELOPED

Chase River Ratepayers Association president, Walter Milligan, Jr., presented the petition and said a commercial development would mean "a change in the way of life of the people of Chase River."

Lawyer E. D. Strongtharm, representing Dr. Zorkin and Mayo Lumber, said: "I'm not calling Chase River a blighted area but an underdeveloped area... this is the type of development this community needs."

LAND VALUES

He said the project "would change the whole tax structure of that area... it makes good sense that land values will immediately increase very substantially."

The building would cost more than $20,000 and total investment in the area would be about $100,000.

Mr. Strongtharm called the supermarket "a major unit in Mayo's planning expansion... and illustrates their reputation of having confidence in the community and its development."

Fishing
Proposed

In an effort to "put Victoria on the fishing map," Oak Bay Marina operator Bob Wright has announced plans to provide a 61-foot cruiser for 40 anglers at a time.

He said Monday his firm is spending $25,000 to convert a vessel for the public fishing. Live bait will be provided.

Mr. Wright urged the Victoria tourist industry to sell the idea of sport fishing in local waters to visitors. He said he had heard of many cases of people asking about fishing being sent up Island by Victoria businessmen.

TV Programs, Some Parents Blamed for Degeneracy

By MARGARET TREBETT

PORT ALBERNI—Certain TV programs and some parents were blamed Tuesday by evangelist Barry Moore for at least part of what he called the moral degeneracy in the world today.

The Canadian evangelist, who is conducting a week-long crusade for Christ here, criticized parents who never attend church, and TV programs which show violence and a trend toward sexual promiscuity.

TEAM OF FIVE

He said there is proof of the effect of programs which should never enter the "sanctified Canadian homes" and added he regards TV as an excellent teaching equipment—but it must be controlled. Mr. Moore did not elaborate.

Nanaimo PTAs

Streamline

Their Image

NANAIMO—Parent-teacher associations within the boundaries of the Nanaimo school district have launched a streamlining campaign to increase efficiency and do away with the present "women's social club" image.

A recent symposium by the district P-T Council agreed the role of a P-TA is "to promote the welfare of all children by an understanding of the children's needs and by understanding the educational system and its needs."

Some streamlining plans:

● Fewer business meetings which will begin and end on time and smaller number of executives through combining some offices.

● Removal of the "social club" image by increasing the membership fee to do away with time-consuming fund drives.

● Leadership courses for officers to increase their proficiency and study groups and "purposeful programs" for members to increase their understanding of the educational system.

● An all-out effort to encourage participation by fathers and more personal contacts to increase membership.

PORT ALBERNI—The Alberni district school board has decided to go along with a request by the local teachers' association that salary arbitration be confined to the basic salary scale.

The request was received by the board Monday night in a letter from the teachers' association, which also announced the appointment of Vancouver lawyer and MLA Alex MacDonald as the teachers' arbitrator.

Election

Warming

Special to the Colonist

One mayoralty candidate hurled a second challenge to another Tuesday as campaigning warmed up for the annual Vancouver Island elections Dec. 12.

Harry Harris, who resigned recently as a Courtenay alderman to run for mayor, asked rival George Hobson to debate the issues at a public forum which could be reported in Courtenay district newspapers before the election.

Mr. Harris pointed out the only forum scheduled so far—in the Legion hall Dec. 8—will not be so reported.

CHALLENGE ISSUED

He noted he issued a challenge to Ald. Hobson, the acting mayor, Oct. 28 and said "to date no acceptance has been received."

Issues cited by Mr. Harris included:

● Continuation of the city manager setup and, "when the probationary period of our present clerk-administrator comes to an end, which candidate will be able to make the decision without personal involvement?"

● Rotation of the post of acting mayor among all six aldermen.

● Record of performance.

● Such other items as financing of recreation, action on centennial ideas, encouragement of new industries and traffic control downtown and at the Comox Road intersection.

SCHOOL BOARD

In Port Alberni, officials announced incumbent Gerald Gray was not returned by acclamation to the rural vacancy on the district school board, as reported earlier. He will be opposed by Cherry Creek PTA president Mark Mosher.

In the Cowichan Valley, the four candidates for two unorganized-area seats on the school board have been invited to speak to the South Cowichan Ratepayers' Association in the Cobble Hill hall at 8 p.m. Dec. 9. They are Will Peck, Mrs. Hamish Sibbald, H. H. Williams and J. P. Wilson.

Norman McKenzie, who with Murvil Rogers has acted as spokesman for the parents, told the Colonist last night this proposal "sounds a little more reasonable."

WALK LIMIT

Asked if the parents would accept it, he replied, "I think so."

The parents originally sought a bus because of the distances of their homes from the three schools involved. The school board refused twice, saying the most distant home is 1½ miles and the B.C. Public Schools Act sets a walk limit of 2½ miles.

Later, the reported appearance of two naked men before two of the children on wood-fringed Burde Street bolstered the parents' campaign.

FURTHER MEETING

Provincial education department officials last week promised to help the parents if possible and the school board Monday said it will seek another meeting with the parents.

Mr. Macfie said Tuesday that district NDP MLA John Squire will be asked to attend the meeting. Its date has not been set.

He said a letter to the board from Dr. W. A. Flenderleith, assistant superintendent of B.C. schools, made it clear any decision to provide a bus is one which can only be made by the board, because of the walk limit.

BACK TO SCHOOL

But Dr. Flenderleith also wrote that his department's chief concern is to make it possible to get the children back to school.

He wrote that the department would do everything possible within the schools act to resolve the situation, and suggested a prefabricated school in Arrowsmith Heights.

Dr. Flenderleith said he was prepared to recommend that the department authorize funds if the board should ask money for the prefab school.

Boys' Behavior
Baffles Court

DUNCAN—"If I see you here again, I shall keep you off the road as long as I can," Magistrate D. K. McAdam told two boys in juvenile court Tuesday.

The boys were fined $25 each for driving a car with a noisy muffler.

STOPPED TWICE

Police told the court the car was stopped and the driver was advised he would be charged. Then, they said, the youths switched places and followed the police car for some time, shouting and waving. The second charge was laid after the car was stopped again.

One of the boys said he had not been told by the police officer who made the first stop to have the muffler fixed. He added he was angry because of the charge.

Police said that, during the time they were followed they wondered if the boys were out of their minds.

The magistrate said: "I'm beginning to think that, too."

Place-to-Vote
Rule Established

CAMPBELL RIVER—The place-to-vote policy has been set for the five areas in the Campbell River district which will vote Dec. 12 on formation of a district municipality.

Officials said Tuesday ratepayers must cast their ballots on the referendum in the areas in which they hold property.

Campbell River village property owners will vote in the village community hall, while North Campbell River residents must vote at Discovery School.

Quinam Heights ratepayers will cast ballots at Evergreen School and Willow Point residents must travel to their community hall.

All ratepayers living south of Ocean Grove Road to the Oyster River will cast their votes at Howard's Marina at Oyster Bay.

Tourist Publicity

'Hotels Must Help Selves'

PORT ALBERNI—If hotels, motels and service stations "are not prepared to help themselves," Mayor Les Hammer told the Alberni Valley Chamber of Commerce Tuesday. "I don't think we should go on helping them much longer."

The Chamber authorized a second payment to the Vancouver Island Publicity Bureau.

But the authorization did not come until the bureau's assessment system and the businesses mentioned by the mayor came under severe criticism.

During the meeting, it was learned the bureau will hold a special meeting in Nanaimo Dec. 10 to consider its financial position and its operating policy for 1965.

AMOUNT TOO HIGH

Mayor Hammer, a bureau director, said assessments for exterior advertising of the Island are made on a population basis.

Ald. Jack Perry said he thought the amount asked from this area is too high and Felix Nicholson said Campbell River pays less to the bureau but profits much more from tourism.

The mayor said more tourist business would come this way if all the people in the district were promoting it.

FAIRER BASIS

He said not one hotel, motel or service station operator belongs to the Chamber, which is assessed for publicity work.

William Beckingham said the number of tourist buses available would be a fairer basis of assessment in an industrial area.

President Mrs. Edna Souther agreed and said the Chamber may be falling down in failing to sell the idea of membership to those who benefit most directly from tourism.

MANY FAILED

She said the bureau is in difficulties because many of the member Chambers and councils have failed to meet their commitments.

Port Alberni city council gave $650 and Alberni $250 to the bureau the year.

The Chamber set up a committee to study a possible increase in membership fees to provide for a part-time secretary-manager who would operate the local tourist bureau.

The dolls will be feature attractions of the annual toy auction by Maynard's in aid of the Colonist 500 Fund.

their time and services. The only thing they need in order to ensure success is donations of toys from you.

These may be brought to Maynard's at any time.

liable Transfer a call and he will pick them up free of charge.

Mr. Kool expects to have a busy time in aid of the fund following the Kinsmen giant Christmas bingo in Memorial Arena Tuesday, Dec. 8. All those who bring a toy to the bingo receive an extra ticket for turkey draws.

Mr. Kool will then take the hundreds of toys brought by the players to Maynard's for the auction.

To return to the dolls we spoke of, they owe their charm to the artistry of old-age pensioner Mrs. Mary Smith.

For the past eight years, Mrs. Smith has made a year-long project out of gathering broken and discarded dolls and bringing them to new life and beauty. She repairs them herself and makes the clothing out of old dresses and bits of cloth.

U.S. Leads In Race To Mars

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Mars-bound Mariner IV raced through space Tuesday well ahead of a crippled Soviet rocket and U.S. scientists pondered just when to trigger an extra burst of speed later in the 7½-month flight.

Mariner IV, launched Saturday with cameras designed to take the best pictures yet of the planet's mysterious surface, was 685,875 miles from earth at midnight Pacific time, streaking at 7,193 miles an hour.

The Soviet shot, Zond II, started its flight Monday from an orbiting spacecraft.

All systems aboard Mariner IV were operating normally but the Russians reported their power supply was about 50 per cent impaired.

Liquor 'Still' Was Mobile

NANAIMO (Special)—Dusan Pozar, 345 Pridoux Street, who operated a "do it yourself" moonshine kit only half a block from the Nanaimo RCMP office, was fined $250 in magistrate's court Tuesday for illegal possession of a still.

Police told Magistrate Eric Winch they seized a still, a 50-gallon barrel of mash and several bottles of grappa.

They said the still could be moved from place to place so different moonshiners could make their own booze from their own supply of mash.

Police said the illicit manufacture of moonshine in "big business" in Nanaimo. Pozar's kind of distilled alcohol could cause blindness if improperly made.

Ringo's Loss Nobody's Gain

LONDON (Reuters)—Beatles drummer Ringo Starr has dashed fans' hopes of getting his tonsils as a souvenir when he has them removed.

The 24-year-old entertainer told reporters "No one is getting them, believe me." The operation, scheduled for today, is not expected to affect his singing or the group's "Liverpool sound."

Meanwhile, the Beatles Tuesday shot back to the top of the British hit parade just three days after their new record, I Feel Fine, was released.

Legacy of a Massacre

Typhoid Hits Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Typhoid has broken out in the sweltering former rebel capital of Stanleyville where hundreds of bodies still lie in streets, offices, homes and abandoned cars, travellers reported Tuesday.

The new disaster at Stanleyville came as military sources here disclosed a mercenary column aided by Congolese troops had liberated the town of Dngila 300 miles north of Stanleyville and rescued more than 150 white hostages. The hostages were flown to Leopoldville.

No one has counted the dead in Stanleyville and it is probable the exact toll never will be known.

Rebel prisoners were being used to dispose of bodies because mercenaries and government troops will not touch them, travellers said.

Hospitals are empty in Stanleyville because nurses have vanished.

Some United Nations World Health Organization Negro doctors from Haiti refused to remain there because they feared mercenaries would mistake them for rebels.

Informed sources said between 50 and 750 more whites remained in rebel territory and that the rescue operation would require several weeks.

Meanwhile, a rebel statement said "Simbas" (lions) have recovered Stanleyville radio and claimed credit for the crash of a Belgian airplane Sunday. They said the plane was shot down by the Simbas' gunfire.

These reports are confirmed by Leopoldville. The government succeeds its forces hold only the airport at Stanleyville. In Khazoum the new Sudanese regime of Prime Minister Sir el Khatim el Khalifa is weighing a rebel demand for arms, ammunition, volunteers and supplies for the rebel cause.

At the United Nations the African group of 33 countries asked Secretary-General Thant to make representations to Belgium and the United States that all foreign troops and mercenaries be pulled out of The Congo.

WASHINGTON (UPI)

President Johnson has ordered urgent consultations with the Saigon government toward improving "in all its aspects" the increasingly grim situation in beleaguered South Viet Nam.

Meanwhile Cambodian frontier forces have joined the Communist Viet Cong again in attacks on South Vietnamese troops, the South Vietnamese defence ministry charged Tuesday.

At the same time China, aware that President Johnson was discussing war policy with U.S. Ambassador Maxwell Taylor and key advisers in Washington, warned it would fight in the event of "U.S. imperialist aggression" against North Viet Nam.

President Johnson's directive to General Taylor came during a major 2½-hour review of U.S. strategy and policy in Viet Nam. The president's highest military, diplomatic and intelligence advisers took part.

Nowhere in a White House report of the meeting was there any indication of administration plans to expand the war against the Viet Cong guerrillas.

The White House statement said the president had reaffirmed the basic U.S. policy of "providing all possible and useful assistance to the South Vietnamese people and government in their struggle to defeat the externally-supported insurgency and aggression being conducted against them."

This policy also still includes a determination to try to defeat aggression in Southeast Asia without a big war. Thus any major widening of the Vietnamese conflict, such as invading North Viet Nam or bombing its capital of Hanoi, appeared to be ruled out because of the possibility of massive retaliation.

Liu Ning-yi, Chinese representative in the just-closed international conference on Viet Nam, said:

"The Chinese people would never sit idly by when aggression was being committed against their brotherly neighbor. They would resolutely unite with and fight alongside the fraternal Vietnamese people."

Viet Cong Erase Government Post

SAIGON (AP)—The Viet Cong wiped out a government district headquarters post early today, setting enough weapons to arm a reinforced guerrilla company.

About 300 Viet Cong troops slashed their way into the town of Thien Gio, 100 miles north-east of Saigon, and killed the district chief and 12 of his men. They occupied with 113 weapons, including 33 machine guns.

The force at Thien Gio radioed the military headquarters at the coastal town of Phan Thiet for reinforcements, and flare-dropping planes and fighters arrived within an hour after the attack began.

However, by the time the ground troops arrived a little before dawn, the Viet Cong had left with their booty. They also carried off two radios and destroyed the district headquarters building and a munition dump.

Peace—At Least a Month

Two UN Giants Agree To Put Off Fund Fight

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The Soviet Union and the United States pulled back from the brink of a showdown Tuesday, agreeing to put off for at least a month the East-West confrontation over UN peace-keeping finances.

The agreement came just minutes before the opening of the General Assembly's 19th session, averting a U.S. move to try to take away Soviet voting rights because of non-payment of peace-keeping assessments which Russia says were illegally approved.

The compromise was worked out in consultations with Secretary-General U Thant and a handful of other delegates.

It provided that no formal votes will be taken during the assembly's general debate, expected to last at least until Christmas. With no formal voting, the question of whether or not Russia can vote will not arise.

Thant announced the agreement in a terse statement at the opening of the assembly. The assembly then proceeded to elect by acclamation a new chairman, Alex Quaison-Sackey of Ghana.

LITTLE CHANCE

However, authoritative sources said that the U.S. would have had little chance of enlisting the necessary two-thirds majority in the assembly to strip the Russians of their vote.

Negotiations were to resume today between Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and U.S. State Secretary Dean Rusk.

Thant's announcement of the big two compromise climaxed a dispute that has been building up slowly for years. The crowd filling the big blue and gold assembly chamber gave an audible murmur of relief as the first decision was taken with no vote required.

FUTURE TALKS

There was a feeling among some diplomats that the compromise provided a good augury for future talks on a basic settlement.

"We have certainly bought time today," Canada's External Affairs Minister Paul Martin said. He hoped progress could be made while "all the parties concerned" were in New York for the assembly.

Martin met with Thant late in the day and afterwards paid tribute to the secretary-general for his part in achieving the agreement.

Flag Vote Hopes Fade in Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—Hopes for speedy Commons approval of an emblem with a single red maple leaf as Canada's national flag dimmed Tuesday when Speaker Alan Macnaughton ruled to permit debate on a Conservative amendment calling for a flag plebiscite.

Mr. Macnaughton rejected government arguments and decided it is "fair and equitable" that the amendment for a plebiscite at the next general election be debated.

Prime Minister Pearson accepted the ruling but asked that debate be confined only to the question of a plebiscite.

Mr. Macnaughton said in view of the long debate so far this session on the question of a national flag speeches should be to the point.

He was called upon quickly

for a ruling as J. A. McElin (PC-Elgin) led off the resumed debate and quoted at length from letters and editorials favoring retention of the Red Ensign as the national flag.

Gilles Gregoire (Creditiste-Lapointe) called for a ruling to restrict Mr. McElin's remarks to the plebiscite.

HARD TO DECIDE

Mr. Macnaughton cautioned Mr. McElin, but said questions of relevancy were not easy to decide and a wrong decision might deprive a member of his right to speak.

The Speaker's ruling means each member may speak at least once on the amendment and again on the single-leaf design recommended by the Commons' all-party flag committee. There was no indication whether further amendments
